RACE VERY CLOSE FOR JUSTICESHIP

Both Judges Manning and Allen Claiming Supreme Court Nomination.

IN THIRD CONGRESSIONAL

Friends of Hood Claim Victory—Situation in Cumberland—Results in Wake Being Discussed—Charlotte Convention.

(Special Star Telegram.)

Raleigh, N. C., June 28.—The Manning campaign for re-nomination as Supreme Court Associate Justice, so close and indefinite for some days, receives just now an additional impetus here through the announcement that 29 out of 36 precincts in Wake county give him 2,039 votes against 1,920 for Judge Allen, this, too, in spite of the fact that Judge Allen is a native of Wake county and has influential relatives in the county.

There had been considerable apprehension here among the friends of Judge Manning as to scattered and tardy returns that have been published, but confidence in ultimate success of his campaign seems wonderfully strengthened by presentations of the situation issued from the Manning headquarters at Durham, giving figures in rebuttal of those promulgated by the Allen campaign managers from Goldsboro and presenting the view that while counties thus far instructed indicate a very close contest with the possible odds in favor of Judge Allen, there are a great number of counties still uninstructed in which the Manning forces report assurances of support that are most encouraging. It looks like the contest will have to be settled in the State convention, because of uninstructed counties and fractions of votes. Both managers confidently claim the election for their candidates and the friends of each are confident.

In the Third District.

Goldsboro, N. C., June 28.—The returns received by George E. Hood, Esq., candidate for Congress, indicate that he will get over half of Jones county, more than half of Pamlico, about one-third of Craven, one-third to one-half of Sampson and part of Duplin county with an overwhelmingly large majority in Wayne and Carteret. His friends are certain of his nomination.

From Cumberland.

Fayetteville, N. C., June 28.—The returns from practically every one of the 23 precincts in Cumberland county are in and show that 17 of them, including all the large precincts endorsed and instructed for Hon. H. L. Cook, for Congress, while the delegations of the others are for Cook. The vote taken in two precincts was understood not to be an instruction and amount to but little anyway as one cast only 15 Democratic votes in the general election, while at the primary were many old mossback Republicans who vote in Democratic primaries to help nominate our candidates but vote the Republican ticket at the election. In the other precinct only 28 votes are cast in the general election for the Democratic candidate for Governor. Taking the two together and counting them solid (they were divided) and they would have only a fraction of a vote in the Congressional convention. Cumberland may be counted upon as solid for Cook and her friends believe he will be the winner at Wrightsville.

Telephone advices from a prominent citizen at Lillington giving the vote by townships show that outside of Dunn Mr. Godwin got a little less than two-thirds of the county.

At Dunn, where Mr. Godwin lives, it appears from a protest filed that upon the township meeting's being called to order a motion was made to take a vote upon all the candidates for Congress, and the chairman, a Godwin man, ruled it out of order, and another Godwin man proposed a list of delegates which the chairman submitted and by a vote of 60 to 35 protesting the chair declared the ticket elected A protest was made and a contest will follow in the Harnett convention which will doubtless decrease Godwin's strength in his own county to less than two-thirds.

Thus Mr. Godwin was afraid to let the people of his own town—his friends and neighbors—have an opportunity to cast their votes and express their choice as provided for by the plan of organization and as was done elsewhere when asked for. All this is Harnett county news and from a leading citizen of the county.

Louisville, Ky., June 28.—After shooting his wife to death, putting one bullet in his own body and firing twice at his 19-year-old son, J. C. Bird, a building contractor tonight committed suicide by cutting his throat. He drew the knife while his son was grappling with him for the pistol. Jealousy of his wife is said to have been the cause. Mrs. Bird was 48 and her husband 59 years old.

San Antonio, Texas, June 28.—E. H. Terrell, a wealthy business man of San Antonio and former United States Minister to Belgium, is dying at his home here from the effects of a self inflicted bullet wound, it is learned tonight. Mr. Terrell has been ill for several months.

GOVERNOR TALKS TO RICKARD

Fight Promoter Has His Personal Assurance of No State Interference With Jeffries-Johnson Fight—The Fighters.

Reno, Nev., June 28.—Sweeping away the last fear of executive interference with the Johnson-Jeffries battle on July 4th, Gov. Dickerson, of Nevada, arrived today and personally assured Promoter Tex Rickard that there was no possibility of intervention.

Gov. Dickerson said: "The Associated Press may state for me that the Jeffries-Johnson fight positively will be held in Reno on the afternoon of July 4th, with no interference from anyone. Mr. Rickard as referee and promoter has assured me that the fight will be honestly conducted. Beyond this, I have no concern with it. I have known Mr. Rickard for seven years and his word is sufficient for me."

The honors of popular attention today's arrivals were shared by Gov. Dickerson and "Battling" Nelson, former champion light weight. "Bat" was the center of an interested throng when he went into the hotel.

One of the first men he met was Tex Rickard, whose career as a fight promoter began when he brought the Dane and Joe Gans together in Goldfield several years ago for the biggest purse ever offered in the prize ring up to the time Jeffries and Johnson were matched.

Rickard was in an unusually cheerful mood today. He declared that his worries were over; that the fight was going to be on schedule time. During the night he received many messages from the coast which assured him of a good seat sale and similar assurances came from a number of unexpected quarters.

He made one trip out to the arena and on his return expressed great satisfaction with the progress of the work there.

Jeffries early morning walk out of yesterday took the enthusiasts by surprise; so by 7 o'clock this morning nearly 400 people had gathered at Moana. They waited patiently for Jeffries to appear and get to work. He had another trick up his sleeve, however, and did not appear. He glanced out of the window, saw the crowd waiting for him and cheerfully announced that he did not propose to do any work today. He refused to leave his personal quarters until after 9 o'clock. Then he charged through the crowd and went off up the road in a cloud of dust. Before his return he had covered about seven miles of Nevada roads, taken mostly in short sprints. The spectators regretting hours of lost sleep, were much chagrined but still determined. They wandered about the grounds waiting in the hope that Jeffries would relent. Some of them gave up, but most of them remained until Jeffries, swinging lightly along on his toes trotted back to camp. He glanced at the lingerers and announced through his followers that he felt too good to work at all today.

At Jack Johnson's camp it was rest day in the morning. Johnson wandered around the resort with his camp followers shooting craps and keeping up a running fire of banter with everybody in range.

That the men close to the fighters are anticipating a hard battle was indicated today in a message from Jim Corbett to Roger Bresnahan, manager of the St. Louis National baseball team. "Look for hard fight. Jeffries should win," was the way Corbett expressed himself.

Local betting on the fight livened up greatly today. In one of the prominent gambling houses the following wagers were posted: $1,500 even that Johnson stays ten rounds; $300 to

SENATOR S. D. M'ENERY DEAD

Noted Southerner Passed Away at New Orleans Home After Brief Illness—Taken Sick Upon Return From Washington.

New Orleans, June 28.—United States Senator Samuel Douglas McEnery, of Louisiana, died at his home here this morning shortly before 10 o'clock. Senator McEnery arrived from Washington yesterday morning suffering from an attack of indigestion. He was placed in a carriage at the railroad station and taken to his home in St. Mary street, where physicians were hastily summoned. The Senator rallied somewhat after being treated and showed marked improvement yesterday afternoon. Late last night his condition took a change for the worse and early this morning he lapsed into unconsciousness. He died at the age of 74 years.

The funeral of Senator McEnery will take place at 10:30 o'clock Thursday morning and the interment will be made in a local cemetery.

Senator McEnery served as a lieutenant in the Confederate Army and as a young lawyer in Louisiana immediately following the war, being conspicuous in the work accomplished by the "white league" in overcoming the "carpet baggers" and negro rule. He was elected Lieutenant governor by the Democrats in 1879 and succeeded Gov. Wiltse upon the latter's death in 1881.

Senator McEnery was graduated from the University of Virginia and was a member of the Phi Kappa Sigma fraternity. Funeral arrangements have not yet been made.

Washington, June 28.—Vice President Sherman has designated the following named Senators to attend the funeral of the late Senator McEnery:

Messrs. Foster, Dolliver, Bailey, Gamble, Clay, Bradley, Johnston and Chamberlain. Senators attending the funeral left here tonight and will arrive at New Orleans at 7:45 Thursday morning.

Speaker Cannon named the following committee to attend the funeral on behalf of the House of Representatives:

Taylor, of Alabama; Beall, of Texas; Macon, of Arkansas; Sisson, of Mississippi; McKinley, of Illinois; Grant, of North Carolina, and Barchfeld, of Pennsylvania.

President Taft learned with deep regret of the death of Senator McEnery. The Louisiana Senator had the friendship and admiration of the chief executive and was a frequent visitor at the White House. In the confusion of leaving Washington for Beverly, Mr. Taft could not find the time to express his condolences to the late Senator's family, but aboard the train carrying him to his Summer home he dictated the following telegram to Mrs. McEnery: "Am shocked to hear of the death of Senator McEnery, who said good bye to me at the White House in apparent good health two days ago. The Senator was a public servant with the highest sense of duty. He was a patriot in every sense and a man who had endeared himself to us all."

BALTIMORE MUNICIPAL GRAFT.

Third Presentment Returned by Grand Jury—Bribe Demanded.

Baltimore, Md., June 28.—Charles H. Heintzeman was today presented by the grand jury on the charge of demanding a bribe. He is charged with having demanded of the attorney for a builder the sum of $500 to secure the payment by the city of the sum of $13,300 due to the Contractor Hughes by the city for the construction of a school building.

This is the third presentment returned by the grand jury since it began its investigation into alleged municipal graft a few weeks ago.

ZEPPELIN AIRSHIP IS TOTAL WRECK

Thirty-Three Persons Had Thrilling Experience on Giant Air Craft.

FINALLY FALLS IN FOREST

A Mass of Deflated Silk and Twisted Aluminum—Had Wild Contest With the Winds—Passengers Were Landed Safely.

Dusseldorf, Germany, June 28.—Count Zeppelin's passenger airship Deutschland, the highest developed of all the famous aeronaut's models, lies tonight on top of the Teutoburgn forest, pierced with pine tree stems, a mass of deflated silk and twisted aluminum. The 33 persons aboard, after a wild contest with a storm, escaped uninjured, climbing down a rope ladder from the wreck on the pine tops.

Herr Colesmann, general manager of the new airship company, Chief Engineer Duerr, of the Zeppelin Company, and Captain Kannenberg, who personally had charge of the crew of ten, and 20 newspaper men sailed from Dusseldorf at 8:30 o'clock this morning for a three hours' excursion. The objective point was Dortmund, about 35 miles from Dusseldorf, but a high head wind prevailed and an effort was made to reach Munster, a garrison town to that a landing might be made on the parade ground.

It was dangerous to attempt a landing in an open field because of the storm as the metal was likely to pound to pieces. In the high wind one of the motors refused to work and the other two were not powerful enough to make any progress in the gale. The airship drifted, swaying on the violent gusts and sometimes leaning to an angle of 40 degrees, and all the while the enginemen were at work repairing the disabled motor. When this was done all four screws were driven at their full power, which, under normal conditions the ship was capable of attaining a speed of 40 miles an hour. But the helmsman was unable to keep his course, and the great craft was swung about at the mercy of the winds.

Colesmann did not dare to turn the ship around for fear of overturning and he decided to drift in the gale which was now blowing at the rate of 50 miles an hour toward Osnabruck, which is also a garrison station. If he missed that, he would continue on to Senn.

Suddenly he perceived a whirl wind coming and ascended to a height of near 4,000 feet to avoid the worst of it. With the whirl wind came an avalanche of rain. After half an hour the Deutschland came down to permit of observations, and it was seen that the Teutoburgain forest lay below. The forward motor again stopped and Colesmann sent five of the correspondents to the after gondola to ballast the vessel.

The Deustchland sank rapidly, having lost much gas in the height altitudes and dragged along the top of the dense forest. A heavy branch of a tree broke through the floor of the cabin amidships, throwing two of the guests to the floor. Other branches ripped through the gas compartments and the whole great structure settled down 30 or 40 feet from the ground.

"It isn't the fault of the Zepplin system," exclaimed Herr Colessmann; "that is all right. It is our own fault, and our zenzin ran out."

The airship for which Herr Colesmann's Company had just paid $137,500 looked like a wreck. The frames were broken but the motors were not damaged. The silk was ripped and had fallen in a torn mass on the tops of the trees.

A rope ladder was swung down and everyone was mustered below uninjured except for a bruise or two. The natives identified the spot as near Wellendorf, East of Oanabruck.

Many persons of the country side must have seen the descent and reports of disaster, explosion and death were widely spread. A company of infantry was sent from Osnabruck, and picketed the wreckage.

The disaster occurred at 5:30 o'clock in the evening. The early part of the flight was delightful, much like automobiling, without the jarring. The airship maintained an altitude of about 500 feet.

Carson City, Nev., June 28.—Genoa, the county seat of Douglass county, 12 miles south of this city, was almost destroyed by fire late today. Loss is over $100,000.

LORIMER BRIBERY CHARGES

Six Hundred Illinois Citizens Demand Complete Investigation—An Organized Fight Against Political Corruption.

Peoria, Ill., June 28.—In resolutions introduced by Representative Martin A. Hull, of Chicago, the demand goes forth from 600 citizens of Illinois that a complete investigation of charges of bribery in the election of Senator William Lorimer be made.

The resolutions were adopted at the conference considering the breakdown of representative government in Illinois just before sine die adjournment tonight. Copies of the resolutions will be sent to Senator Cullom, State's Attorney Wayman, of Cook county, and State's Attorney Burke, of Sangamon county. It is demanded that both Federal and State investigations of the charges be made.

Other resolutions introduced by Representative Hull and adopted by the conference are those demanding an amendment to the constitution which will provide for the initiative and referendum as followed in the State of Oregon; the passage of a corrupt practice act, and a comprehensive State civil service system.

Winston Churchill, of New Hampshire, advocating the short ballot system, spoke to the assemblage of citizens at the Majestic Theatre tonight. His speech brought to a close the most remarkable session of men without partisan bias ever held in this State.

The closing scenes of the convention called to fight political corruption were enthusiastic.

Another resolution adopted favored the merit system for all appointive places of employment in the public service of the State.

Browne Jury Still Out.

Chicago, June 28.—The jury which is deliberating on the case of Lee O'Neil Browne, legislative minority leader, charged with bribing C. A. White to vote for William Lorimer for United States Senator passed the 100 hour mark tonight, without showing any indication that an agreement is in sight. At 10 o'clock when the jury had been out 102 hours, it was announced at the criminal court building that there was little chance of an agreement tonight.

POWELL TRIAL BEING DELAYED

Illness of Juror Causes a Temporary Halt—May Have to Begin Case Anew—Slayer's Daughter Tells Pitiful Story.

(Special Star Telegram.)

Warrenton, N. C., June 28.—Serious illness of one of the jurors in the trial here of E. E. Powell, Sr. for the murder of Chief of Police Dunn, at Scotland Neck last March, brought the trial to a temporary halt today and may necessitate the summoning of a special venire and begin the case anew. It is believed that Hicks, who was stricken today, has little chance of recovery.

Witnesses for the defense today attempted to show that Powell was insane. One of them testified that Powell had expressed the hope that "agricultural trimmers," which he thought were hurricanes, would blow Scotland Neck away.

Hatred of State Representative Kitchin was brought out, but the defense took exception to this on the ground that Powell was being tried for shooting Officer Dunn, not Kitchin.

At the opening of court this morning Miss Alice Powell, the daughter of the defendant, again took the stand resuming the answers to the cross-examination of the prosecuting attorneys, where it was left off yesterday afternoon. Miss Powell stated that at present she was at home alone, her mother having died since the homicide, her father incarcerated in the State prison awaiting the outcome of the case now on trial, the older brother, E. E. Powell, Jr., in jail at Halifax in default of a $5,500 bond for his appearance at the next term of Halifax county court under several charges of retailing. The younger brotther, about whom the letter was written by Powell to Senator Travis which was the immediate cause of the assault upon the three men, is a fugitive from justice in Halifax county. It is stated that the authorities of the county will not make any effort to get young Powell back and are desirous that he remain out of the county. He is in attendance upon the trial here.

At the session of the court this morning a strong play was made by the defense when several Confedenrate Veterans were introduced as witnesses to tell of the cnaracter of the defendant while he was in the army of the Confederacy in the Civil War. These men stated that while he was in the army, Powell was a model soldier, but that he took to drinking shortly afterward and gradually went down until at the time of the tragedy he was considered a very bad man and several witnesses expressed the opinion that at times he did not know right from wrong.

The outcome of the proceedings tomorrow morning are being watched with a great deal of interest.

TAFT OFF FOR BEVERLY.

President Goes to Summer Capital. Took Several Along.

Washington, June 28.—President Taft left here today to spend the next three or four months at Beverly, Mass., the present Summer capital of the United States.

The President's private car was attached to the Federal express and left at 5:30 o'clock tonight. Before getting aboard the train the President stood on the platform for several minutes chatting and expressing his wishes for a happy Summer to some members of the White House executive force and others who had gone to the station to see him off.

With the President went Secretary Norton and Assistant Secretary Forster, Capt. Archibald W. Butt, his military aide, Dr. Barker, his physical director, two stenographers and several messengers. The rest of the White House executive force will remain here during the Summer.

NORTH CAROLINA LAWYERS MEET

VISITORS ROYALLY WELCOMED

Chas. W. Tillett, of Charlotte, Responds to Words of Welcome From H. McClammy, Esq. President's Address.

Leading lawyers from every section of the State—some who have reached the pinnacle of professional and political fame, others who are ascending rapidly toward their goal and still others who are yet to have their ambitions gratified—gathered in the assembly hall of the Seashore Hotel, Wrightsville Beach, last evening for the first session of the 12th annual convention of the North Carolina Bar Association, composed of a large portion of the most prominent attorneys of the State.

The lawyers are at the beach from every nook and corner of North Carolina and many of them are accompanied by members of their families and friends and propose to make their sojourn at the greatest seaside resort in the South not only profitable, but pleasant from a social standpoint.

Members of the profession began arriving as early as Monday, when a score or more came in, and yesterday nearly all the trains to the city were well filled with lawyers and their families. It is expected that many others will arrive today, increasing the number considerably. It is estimated that the convention will bring to the beach anywhere from 300 to 400 visitors. The Bar Association met at the beach about four years ago and the visitors had such a pleasant time that it was not difficult to get them to select Wrightsville again this year. Many of those who expected to come were unavoidably detained at home, some on account of illness and some on account of press of legal matters. Hon. Locke Craig, of Asheville, who was on the programme to deliver the response to the address of welcome, was unable to be present, and W. H. Pace, Esq., of Raleigh, who was to deliver the principal address Thursday evening, was detained at home on account of illness. Thursday evening's session will therefore, be devoted wholly to the transaction of business and the annual election of officers.

Last Night's Session.

The 12th annual convention of the association was called to order shortly before 9 o'clock last night in the assembly hall of the Seashore Hotel by Hon. E. W. Timberlake, of Wake Forest, the able chairman of the executive committee. After the usual preliminaries, Herbert McClammy, Esq., a leading member of the Wilmington bar, known throughout the State as an able lawyer, in the practice of both criminal and civil matters, was presented and he welcomed the visitors in behalf of the local bar, city of Wilmington, and Wrightsville Beach in his usual pleasing and eloquent manner. He spoke as follows:

"Ladies and Gentlemen:—I am constrained to congratulate our community upon the fact that we have at last succeeded in bringing into our midst all of the law of the land. For there is nowhere a body of men more famed for their knowledge or their love for the highest justice and liberty under the most perfect forms of the law. It is true that at times the rogue goes unwhipped of justice but even then two hearts are made to beat as one, the culprit as he leaves the dock, the lawyer as he pockets his fee.

"The legal profession in North Carolina is marching in the front column with those who are struggling for purer laws, for higher liberty and richer development. At the same time instilling into its own ranks a desire to enforce the ethics of the profession for the betterment of society, and the safety of the public.

"These annual meetings bring about a good fellowship that inures not only to the benefit of the profession, but sets the standard for nobler purposes, greater ambition and loftier ideals. The true lawyer is a worthy article often sought after, seldom discarded and never dishonored. And in North Carolina he is becoming a great factor in law, politics and religion.

"Integrity is his watchword; honesty his purpose, fidelity his object, while efficiency and intellectual research his capital. And with these cardinal virtues surrounding him there is but little hope for the prosperity of the ambulance chaser, or those engaged in other methods that prostitute the profession.

Each year the standard of proficiency gets higher and higher, and truth is beginning to reign in eternal majesty and justice is holding the scales of God.

I was told when I was invited to welcome you to our community that I was not expected to speak more than three minutes, and certainly not over five minutes, for there was a restlessness pervading the profession that would not admit of a long speech. But recent developments among our local bar (whom I have the honor to represent in extending to you a welcome warm from the heart), disclose a spirit of insurgency manifesting itself, to that extent that it is—almost impossi-

Wilson, N. C., June 28.—'Twas a pitchers' battle today between Brooks and Foreman. Brooks yielded up six hits while Foreman held the Sailors down to three. Both teams did excellent work but the locals took two of the three runs made.

The main feature was when Foreman hit a high flyet to centre and three of the visitors gazed at the sphere in its upward flight and let it fall in the midst of the bunch without an effort to keep it from boring a hole in the field.

Boo-Hoos.

Spificated!

And to think; they're to Wilson!

That chap Luyster—he's still giving third?

Manager Smith had best inquire for his rabbit foot.

Won't somebody please turn the hose on Fayetteville.

That chape Luyster—he's still giving trouble in this league.

Eighteen innings without a hit—and then some. Luyster is indeed the Big Boy with those Kilties.

Only three strike-outs each, but then Foreman, the either-handed artist, gave one constitutional, while Brooks gave none.

In Wilsonburg the hits were not so frequent, but just a squint please at the error column. Dubbsy was there with his, Burke chalked in two and one is credited to Brooks.

Never mind, Brooks; you're still some pitcher in these diggin's and when the Sailor boys come into their own, you'll be right there doing the Big Boy stunts with the best of 'em.

The electric matinee was in eclipse yesterday afternoon; not sufficient patronage to meet the cost. It will be in commission again this afternoon if the sports turn out in sufficient numbers. Just expenses and bare expenses at that, is all that is wanted, so get out to the scoreboard today.

THE FINALS AT HARVARD.

Attorney General Wickersham Spoke on "College Trained Lawyers."

Cambridge, Mass., June 28.—The college trained lawyers will solve the great legal and economic questions of government on this and the next generation, declared Attorney General Wickersham, who was the principal speaker before the law school graduates at Harvard commencement exercises today. The law school commencement was the feature of the day's celebration, although the class of 1880 with which Theodore Roosevelt graduated, was prominent.

The former President arrived too late to take part in many of the festivities. There were numerous class dinners throughout the day and evening and scores of reunions at Boston's various shore resorts.

Chief Justice Melville W. Fuller, of the United States Supreme Court, was elected president of the Harvard Law School Association. Among the vice presidents chosen were Richard Olney, Everett P. Wheater, Judge Geo. Gray, Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes, Charles J. Bonaparte and Louis D. Brandeis.

Attorney General Wickersham received a cordial greeting when he rose to speak of the law school commencement on "The College Trained Lawyer."

BISHOP McVICKAR DEAD.

Episcopal Prelate Passed Away at Beverly Yesterday.

Beverly, Mass., June 28.—William Neilson McVickar, protestant Episcopal Bishop of Rhode Island, died at his Summer home at Beverly Cove late today after a lingering illness. He had been Bishop of Rhode Island since 1903. Bishop McVickar was born in New York October 19, 1843. He was graduated from Columbia College in 1865 and the general theological seminary in 1868.

He had been rector of Holy Trinity Church, Harlem, New York City and of Holy Trinity, Philadelphia. He was deputy to the general conventions of the Protestant Episcopal church from 1883 to 1895 and was president of the Southwestern Convocation and member of the Diocesan Board of Missions and Board of Managers of the General Missionary Society. His home was in Providence, R. I.

KILTIES WIN DOUBLEHEADER

Luyster Pitched Eighteen Innings Without a Score Against Him. Bunting Got Three Hits and Scored All the Runs.

(Special Star Telegram.)

Fayetteville, N. C., June 28.—For 18 long innings Luyster shut out Raleigh in a double-header here today, giving the best exhibition of pitching ever seen here. Both games were won by the score of 1 to 0, and both were well earned victories, each being the result of two singles intersliced with a sacrifice.

Luyster's superb pitching featured both games while Bunting also starred. He got three hits and scored all the runs. In the second game he scored from second base on Mullen's infield hit. For 18 innings Luyster gave but one pass and allowed but three clean hits.

TO ELIMINATE FIGHT NEWS.

Western Union Draws the Line—Will Not Furnish Bulletins.

New York, June 28.—General Manager Brooks, of the Western Union Telegraph Company, issued notice today that the company would not furnish news bulletins either by special wire, by messengers or on its tickers, relating to the progress of the Jeffries-Johnson prize fight at Reno, Nev., on July Fourth.

Numerous applications have been made for such services in various parts of the country. The Western Union Company will confine itself to the handling of such messages as may be filed for regular transmission in the ordinary manner at Reno by press associations, by newspapers and by individuals.

Explaining the company's attitude Mr. Brooks issued this statement tonight: "The Western Union Telegraph Company is not in the business of gathering news. That is a function of press associations and of newspapers. The telegraph company is a transmitting agency and as such will confine its activity in this Reno affair to the transmission of news dispatches gathered by other agences and filed with it for delivery to various points.

"The Western Union Telegraph company will endeavor to place at the disposal of the public and of the newspapers the very best facilities for transmitting quickly and accurately their dispatches, so that people interested in the fight may obtain desired information. A large number of wires are available for such use at Reno, not only on July 4th, but at all other times. In addition, such extra facilities will be provided in which to render convenient the dutes of the reporting agencies.

"The regular trans-continental wires normally passing through Reno will be cut at that point. By so doing messages can be sent simultaneously East and West, thus bringing into service all trans-continental routes. For example, Eastbound messages may go directly eastward from Reno; or going westerly to San Francisco Bay they can be circuited around eastward again by the Southern lines along the Southern Pacific and the Santa Fe routes and also northerly along the Northern Pacific and Great Northern routes. This will afford ample facilities for the transmission of a large amount of telegraphic messages.

"The various ticker services of the Western Union Telegraph Company are for the reporting of quotations and matters of official record. They will not be used for giving news indications or descriptions of this prize fight."

Greenville, Va., June 28.—Six negro prisoners confined in the county jail last night made their escape by burning a hole in one of the floors. The delivery was so timed that the men might catch a passing train but a colored woman gave the alarm and four of the prisoners were captured before daylight. The two men at large are charged with felonies.

AFFAIRS AT LUMBERTON

Suspicious Death of Infant—Lodge Installations—Other Notes.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Lumberton, N. C., June 28.—Sheriff McNeill and Coroner Rancke returned from Dundarrach, in the extreme upper end of the county, last night, where taey went early yesterday morning in response to a telegram notifying them of the burying of a colored infant under suspicious circumstances. The remains were exhumed and an inquest held, after which the jury rendered its verdict, stating that in their opinion the child died from natural causes.

Eli Southerland, colored, who is charged with killing his son-in-law, Furman Wallace, in April last, was brought here today and placed in jail to await Superior Court which convenes next Monday. At the time of the killing Southerland made his escape, but undertook staying around home too much. Southerland and Wallace lived in Alfordsville township.

At a meeting of St. Alban's Lodge, No. 114, held tonight, the following officers were installed for the ensuing year: W. M., W. P. McAllister; S. W., C. P. McAllister; J. W., Jas D. Proctor; Treasure, John T. Biggs; Secretary, R. T. Allen; Tiller, G. E. Rancke, Sr. Deacons and stewards have not yet been named. After the installation service a special session was held at which refreshments were served and the large number of Masons present spent a most enjoyable evening.

At the regular meeting of Lumberton Lodge No. 35, K. of P., last night, two were given the 3rd degree, and after the close of the lodge a smoker was enjoyed by a large number of the members. Different kinds of refreshments were also served, and every one present declares the occasion a most pleasant one.

Very near 10 per cent of the tax payers in Lumberton township have not yet listed though only two days remain in which listing can be done, after which we are possitively assured those who neglect the matter will be returned as unlisted and may have some trouble.

Casa Blanca, Morocco, June 28.—The French punitive expedition in the Chaouoia region has routed the partisans of Sheik Maelainan, a fanatical priest who for several years has stirred up great agitation. The loss on both sides was heavy, the French losing 13 killed and 71 wounded, mostly native troops.

His hosts of friends in Wilson county will be delighted to learn that Hon. F. A. Daniels, of Wayne, is nominated for Superior Court judge. Mr. Daniels is in every respect fitted for this high honor. He will eventually be elevated to the Supreme Court bench of the State.—Wilson Times.

NEWBERN'S BI-CENTENNIAL

Tentative Programme is Announced—Representations of Earlier Scenes —German American Alliance —State Firemen's.

(Special tSar Correspondence.)

Newbern, N. C., June 28.—Preparations for Newbern's Bi-Centennial Celebration, July 25th to 30th, are being pushed rapidly forward. All the committees are actively at work on the several parts entrusted to their care.

The celebration will be opened Monday, July 25th, at 2 P. M. with a representation of the coming of the first settlers to Newbern. The settlers will sail across the mouth of Trent river, in ships rigged according to the style of the early 18th century, and land at the Government wharf at the foot of Broad street. There they will be met by the Indians who will be out several hundred strong. The part of the settlers will be taken by the Woodmen of the World, and the part of the Indians by the Red Men, all properly costumed. This feature of the celebration will represent the first attempts of the settlers to locate a colony at the junction of the Trent and Neuse rivers, their treaty with the Indians, the quarrel with the natives, the outbreak of the great Indian war of 1711-13, ending with the capture of Baron de Graffenreid and John Lawson, the surveyor of the Province, and the execution of Lawson. Elaborate preparations are being made to make this feature of the celebration particularly striking as every part of it will be carried out in character.

Tuesday morning, July 26th, there will be a great floral and industrial parade in which a large number of handsomely decorated floats will participate. Tuesday night a great historical pageant will be presented which will represent many of the most important events in the history of Newbern. For this event the streets will be brilliantly illuminated. Already thousands of electric lights have been hung throughout the city along the line of the parade. Floats are now being constructed to represent the City of Newbern, Indian Life in North Carolina, the Colonial History of North Carolina, the Revolutionary History of the State, and the History of the Modern Period. In addition to these there will be floats representing such particular events in the history of Newbern as Gov. and Mrs. Tryon giving a reception at the famous Tryon Palace; the session of the First Congress of North Carolina independent of the royal government, which met at Newbern August 25th, 1774; Gov. Richard Caswell, the first governor of the independent State, taking the oath of office at Newbern, January 7th, 1777; George Washington's visit to Newbern; the Industrial Growth and Development of Newbern; and the Educational Development of Newbern. The German-Americans of Wilmington and other cities will also send handsome floats.

An important feature of the celebration will be the formation of a North Carolina Branch of the German-American Alliance, an organization which now numbers several millions of members in the United States. A call has been issued to the German-Americans of North Carolina to convene at Newbern during the celebration for the purpose of taking part in commemorating one of the earliest German settlements in America and of organizing a branch of the National Alliance. Representatives of the National Alliance will be present, notably the President, Dr. Hexamer, of New York, Hon. John D. Cappleman, of Charleston, S. C., the Southern vice president, and Dr. Julius I. Goebel, a former president, now professor of history in the University of Illinois, who will deliver the principal historical address of the occasion.

The bi-centennial address will be delivered by Hon. Hannis Taylor, of Washington, D. C. Mr. Taylor is a native of Newbern, and one of the most distinguished of living Americans. He has won an eminent place as a scholar, historian, jurist and diplomat. He is the author of the greatest work ever written on the British Constitution, and during the administration of President Cleveland, served as American Minister at the Court of Madrid.

Other interesting features of the celebration will be boat races, historical tableaux on water, a grand colonial ball, an exhibit of historic relics and documents illustrating the history of Newbern.

The State Firemen's Association will hold its annual convention and tournament at the same time. They have prepared an elaborate programme including numerous contests, races, a Firemen's Ball, and many other interesting features.

Altogether the week promises to be a memorable one in the history of "Home Coming Weeks" in North Carolina.

ROW AT THE POLLS.

Twenty Engaged in Knock Down and Drag Out.

(Special to News and Observer.)

Wilson, N. C., June 27.—News comes from Nash county this morning to the effect that at the Sandy Cross precinct, in Cooper's township on Saturday last, a row occurred in which 20 or more men became involved. Knucks, knives, sticks and other weapons were used—heads were cracked, ears were chewed off, eyes put in mourning, and the voters generally were more or less disfigured.

Doctors Prescriptions.

It has been proved over and over again that the doctors of this country freely prescribe proprietary medicines in Latin to their patients until they are advertised to the public, after which time they consider it a duty to immediately condemn the very same medicine, not because the preparation is any less valuable, but because it is not "ethical" to prescribe an advertised medicine. There are, however, many physicians of recognized standing broad-minded and successful enough to continue to prescribe such standard remedies as Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which they know to be good.

ble to make one of them sit down. I feel therefore, that the whole people of the State join me in welcoming you in our midst. For the very purpose of the constitution of this organization is to safeguard the rights of individuals, and to throw the mantle of protection around the weak and the injured, so that the innocent should have nothing to fear and the guilty but little to hope for, and for that reason the people of North Carolina will be interested in your deliberations.

I, therefore, ladies and gentlemen, on behalf of the Wilmington Bar take pleasure in welcoming you to a people who are in sympathy with your laudable purpose in establishing justice against injustice, and I welcome you to a people whose hospitality is like your own in its refinement as boundless as the waves of the sea. For more than a quarter of a century it has been the happy fortune of this famed resort to entertain the weary thousands seeking rest. It has been the rare pleasure of others to extend to this worthy body of men a royal welcome and tonight I have the honor to throw wide the gates of this beautiful land and bid you possess it as your own.

The Response.

Mr. McClammy concluded amidst the hearty applause of his large audience. Judge Timberlake then announced that the response would be made by Chas. W. Tillett, Esq., of Charlotte, and presented the distinguished lawyer from the Queen City, who kept his audience in an uproar of laughter for half an hour or more with amusing anecdotes, witty and humorous remarks about members of the profession and Supreme and Superior Court judges, his references to the judges being especially enjoyable to some, while not offensive to any.

In beginning Mr. Tillett, who is recognized as one of the State, ablest and most fearless lawyers, always fighting for that which he thinks is right although the majority be against him, stated that he received a telegram last Friday morning from Thos. W. Davis, of this city, indicating that the sender was in trouble and that he needed assistance. Before he had time to respond the manager of the Western Union called him up by telephone and told him to please give an answer to the message at once. Mr. Tillett said that in the excitement he accepted the invitation to deliver the address of welcome. He expressed regret that Hon. Locke Craig, of Asheville, who was originally assigned the pleasant duty, could not be present and stated that Mr. Craig had been selected not only because he was a brilliant and able lawyer, but because he was from Asheville and it was probably the idea of the committee that the mountains should shake hands with the seas. The speaker said that he was not from the mountains, but his was not a bad city; in fact, said the speaker, "I hail from the metropolis of North Carolina." Having said this Mr. Tillett explained that it was a habit of Charlotte people to boost their city wherever they went and having performed his duty in this respect was ready to proceed with something else.

Mr. Tillett said he knew that he was expected to do more than respond to the address of welcome and therefore had selected a topic for discussion, "The Lawyers of North Carolina," but after spending all of Friday in the preparation of the address he chanced to look through the minutes of the proceedings of former meetings and found that someone else had used the same subject twice on a similar occasion. He then took "The Individual Lawyer," and after the address had been prepared he discovered that his partner had discussed the same thing before the lawyers. This brought him to Sunday. Another subject was selected, address prepared and it went the same as the others. Monday arrived, then a capital subject entered his mind, "The Law of Flying Machines." The address was prepared in due form and contained all the elements necessary, but when he came to the damage suit part of it he halted. How could he get service on the man in the air or attach his machine. He realized that it would never do to discuss before North Carolina lawyers such a question without explaining all about the damage suit part. So the fourth speech was gone. This brought the distinguished lawyer to Tuesday morning and yet no speech. However, someone suggested that he "Cuss the Courts," and the suggestion was one that made the lawyer fairly shout because it was the opportunity he had longed for, he said. He went off to write the speech, but could not think of so many things he had against the courts, but there were some that came to his mind. The question with the speaker was whether he had the right judges present. He then quoted a lawyer friend with reference to the Supreme Court, thus, "Taken individually North Carolina has five of the best lawyers and as fine gentlemen as were ever gotten together on a Supreme Court bench, but taken collectively they are the confoundest aggregation I ever saw." The speaker said that he did not like to quote the remark, but that it was too good to keep. He then gave a most amusing description of a court likened unto a pair of mules, which brought down the house. The speaker said that a Charlotte lawyer was writing a book on "Cases I Have Lost," and that he (the speaker) rather liked the topic. He told of a case he carried to Supreme Court from Charlotte and for some reason it was held over until after Christmas and when the decision was handed down it was found that it was written by one who had not only not heard the argument of the lawyers, but had not even read the brief. Another case cited was that of Shaw against the telegraph company involving damages for mental anguish. He said that he told the court he was not bothering about the mental anguish doctrine, but when the decision was finally handed down a majority of it was devoted to doctrine of mental anguish and not to the case. These were told in Mr. Tillett's inimitable way, sandwiched with incidents or anecdotes that made his remarks intensely interesting and also made it impossible to give a synopsis and convey the same meaning and the same flashes of wit and humor given by the speaker. In fact it would be well nigh impossible to give an accurate portrayal of an address like that delivered by the noted lawyer from Charlotte.

If the speaker were on the Supreme Court bench he would not be such a stickler about time. The rule of the court is that when a lawyer wants an extension of time he must file application and then wait until the end of the hour he is speaking before he knows whether or not he may continue longer. Another thing the speaker wouldn't do if he were a member of the higher tribunal, he would not write scuh confounded long opinions, nor cite so many cases, he said.

If he were a Superior Court judge he would not always want to go back home on the next train, nor would he always be talking about resigning, but resign and say nothing more about it. Nor would he always be scolding the lawyers, but remember the pit from which he himself had come.

"Now," said Mr. Tillett, after he had amused and entertained his audience as they had not been amused and entertained in a long, long time, probably, "I will respond to the address of welcome so eloquently delivered by Mr. McClammy. We are delighted to be in Wilmington and at the beach. We were delighted with the address of welcome. The address struck me like the man who delivered it ought to be in Congress." This remark met with instant and prolonged applause. "Now," said the speaker, "I made a reference a while ago to Charlotte. I want to say right here that Charlotte is simply not in it when it comes to such hospitality as you acord down here." In conclusion the speaker said that he felt sure that of all the associations that had held their annual convention at the beach this year none stood for higher things than the lawyers nor were doing more for the uplift and upbuilding of the State."

He concluded entirely too soon for his hearers who would have gladly listened to him several hours could he have kept up in the same humorous vein all the evening. It was a rare treat and those who were not in the hall at the time will never know what they missed. The committee was indeed fortunate in securing the acceptance of Mr. Tillett to fill the place of Mr. Craig.

Col. J. W. Hinsdale, of Raleigh, president of the association, was then escorted to the chair and introduced to the association by Judge Timberlake, after which the president delivered his annual message, a synopsis of which is given in another column.

George Rountree, Esq., of the local bar, offered an amendment to the by-laws, providing that at each annual meeting the president elected at the previous meeting, shall take the chair and bring the association to order, instead of leaving this to the chairman of the executive committee as is now the case. Mr. Rountree explained that this was entirely in accord with the American Bar Association. Upon motion of Judge H. C. Biggs, of Durham, the amendment was referred to a special committee for investigation and report. The president named the following as the committee: Judge J. C. Biggs, George Rountree and Francis D. Winston.

The following committee were announced by the president:

Publication—Geo. Rountree, chairman; Iredell Meares, secretary, and E. S. Martin, all of Wilmington.

Nominations—Hon. John D. Bellamy.

MOTHER'S FRIEND

A LINIMENT FOR EXTERNAL USE.

One of the most valuable qualities of Mother's Friend is that it safe-guards the future health of the mother. It is a liniment to be applied externally to the body, the use of which lubricates the muscles and tendons, softens the glands and ducts, prevents lumps forming in the breasts, and relieves the pain, nervousness, nausea, and other troubles from which so many expectant mothers suffer. When Mother's Friend is used regularly it fits and prepares the system for an easy and natural consummation of the term. Women who massage with this great liniment are always saved much suffering when baby comes, and recover more quickly, and without ill effects. Mother's Friend is sold at drug stores. President Taft always smiles because he don't give a darn what's done—even if it doesn't suit him.

A man who is jealous of another does things more laughable than a dozen women with their noses turned up at each other.

The Democrats of Pennsylvania have nominated a man named Grim, for Governor. This makes the outlook Grim for the Democrats, who may as well have looked up Jonah and nominated him.

It is said in the baseball news that "the fans continue to knock the teams." How in the world could the fans talk the baseball languge if they didn't learn to use the kickers' vernacular?

Some distinguished American doctor says any man can live to be 125 years old by eating the proper food. Might be so, but a man has to have lots of money to get himself any old thing to eat these times.

If the board of health should come to your house and sniff around in the back yard, and investigate your premises, would you be ready to receive a sanitary slur? Keep everything cleaned up and quit helping to furnish business to the grave diggers.

It is easier and cheaper to restore old lands to fertility than it is to reclaim and put new lands under cultivation. Every supposed worn-out farm in North Carolina is worth having if it is treated right by farmers instead of by the land-scratching vandal.

A woman, Mrs. Marilla M. Ricker, of Grover, N. H., wants to enter the campaign for the nomination for Governor. We are sorry for the old man Ricker, for by the time the politicians put a quietus on his wife's political ambitions he will feel like swapping her for a poll parrot.

The Greensboro Record of yesterday says: "Major Stedman is probably ahead in the Congressional race. Now the thing his friends intend to do is to keep him ahead until after the wire is passed." It would be a graceful thing for all the minority candidates to retire and make it unanimous for Guilford's distinguished candidate.

The only favorable sign for the government's postal savings bank business is that there was no organized protest against it. The people have gotten so accustomed to the socialistic tendencies of the government that they acquiesce in about everything that is done at Washington by so-called solons. The banks will now have the government as a competitor in the banking business.

The eyes of the world are on the South, beginning at Wilmington and taking in eastern North Carolina first. The reason that people want to come to eastern North Carolina is because of its incomparable climate Winter and Summer, its fertile and productive lands and its nearness to markets supplying 30,000,000 consumers, all reached in 24 hours after refrigerator trains loaded with produce leave Wilmington. Oh, you Wilmington!

It is reported that the famous John L. Sullivan, who could lick any man in his palmy days, has been treated shabbily while trying to hang around the headquarters of the fight brutes now preparing for a slugging match at Reno, Nev. Among sluggers the man who is down-and-out is any man's dog for a kick, and, verily, former glory and old age are not considered worthy of respect. Of course, no one need expect any progressive refinement in slugging society circles.

USING DEMOCRATIC THUNDER.

Just as might have been expected, the Republican papers in North Carolina have taken advantage of the factional fights among the Democrats in various counties in the State for the purpose of manufacturing campaign thunder. They cannot be blamed for this, but the Democratc have to blame themselves for getting themselves in the numerous factional fights that have not been at all edifying and not very far from being disgraceful and harmful. The worst part of it is that the Republican papers in North Carolina do not have to manufacture their campaign thunder, for the Democrats in quite a number of counties have forged it for them, ready for use in solid shots and canned garbled extracts. For instance, the Greensboro News (Rep.) assumes an attitude of gravity when it says:

"Not within a quarter of a century has the spirit of dissatisfaction and unrest in the dominant political party in North Carolina been so distinct and positive as in this year of grace. The truth of that statement is sustained in the struggle of the Democratic primaries last Saturday, that is being repeated in many counties this week, and that will continue until and including the State convention in Charlotte July 14. The situation presented is one that demands the serious consideration of thoughtful people of all parties."

That Republican daily then goes into an analysis of the situation as it sees it from Democratic disclosures made during the recent primary campaign. It depends upon Democratic newspaper editorials, abusive articles written by one Democrat against another, and printed speeches of Democrats assailing each other, and the Republican paper draws conclusions that are discreditable to the Democratic party. That is politics, and Republican papers are expected to take advantage of it, although as a matter of fact all the factional fights and "charges" and reflections of one candidate upon another really do not affect the Democratic party either as a State or a local organization. However, some of our Democratic friends have furnished enough molehills for the Republican papers to magnify into mountains.

Thus we see, that by ill tempered and unwise intra-party campaign methods, Democrats have furnished material that can be used against them in the November campaign, perhaps to advantage, although there is very little in all that has been said and done to form the basis of a serious attack especially by a Republican party so vulnerable and unworthy as that party is in North Carolina.

Whatever harm, little, or much, or none, which the Democratic factionists have done to their party, the Republican party will not be in a position to take advantage of it. In fact, the G. O. P. has troubles of its own, and instead of having all local factions it is burdened with two State factions which will do some wool-pulling when the State Republican convention meets at Greensboro August 10. About 34 days after the State Democratic convention will be held at Charlotte, July 14th. At the Republican State convention there will be a fight to the finish between the old line Republicans and the Morehead-Butler faction which pretends to be more decent than the old liners and will make a warm fight to get possession of the State machine.

The Morehead crowd appears to have been playing the part of political amateurs, as they have not only slipped up in catching the mill vote but the Morehead-Butler propagandists and newspaper supports have been sowing the seeds of "local self government," little dreaming that their subterfuge would be discovered and disclosed even by some of their own party. Intelligent Republicans know what is meant by "local self government", and, if they do not, one of the old Republican war-horses in an open letter to the Hon. John M. Morehead points them to the cat in the meal tub, viz: local option, masquerading as "local self government." The old Republican war-horse referred to is no less a man than Col. Virgil S. Lusk, who was once a Republican Congressman from the Asheville district.

In an open letter to Mr. Morehead, published in the Asheville Gazette-News, of June 25th, Col. Lusk plainly tells Morehead that his local option issue is a boomerang that will lose the Republican party its stronghold in western North Carolina. Colonel Lusk on June 15th, received a letter from Mr. Morehead in relation to his plans for making North Carolina Republican and in reply to him Colonel Lusk approves most of the Republican Congressman's plans, but when he comes to "local self government" the hoary headed Republican patriarch reads him a lesson. He bluntly and frigidly tells Mr. Morehead that local self government is "the exercise of the legitimate functions of government" and that it does not mean local option which is intended "to convey the idea that the whiskey question is again to be reopened in North Carolina." He tells Mr. Morehead that local self-government is an entirely different thing from local option and that "the sale of whiskey cannot be construed to mean the exercise of any governmental function," and furthermore "that it is simply a privilege to engage in a certain business which must be admitted by all fair minded men to be a disreputable business, and one that has wrought more destruction in North Carolina, insofar as the people are concerned, than any other business that has ever been established in our midst."

In his long letter Colonel Lusk says many things that will add to Mr. Morehead's stock of wisdom, and he plainly informs him that if he is engaged with Marion Butler in trying to palm off local option on the Republican party disguised as local self-government "then you may not expect the support of the Republicans of this section." (western North Carolina). The Republican patriarch enlightens Mr. Morehead with the statement that "the people of North Carolina by an overwhelming vote, declared in favor of prohibition, and while the law has not been enforced as well as it ought to have been, yet every fair minded man is bound to admit that, even under the lax enforcement, as we now have it, it has resulted in wonderful good." Colonel Lusk declares himself to be a prohibitionist and says the Republican masses of western North Carolina are prohibitionists, and that any local option humbugery with them will drive them from the Republican party and even defeat McNinch in the Ninth Congressional District if it is persisted in.

Colonel Lusk's open letter is so interesting that we copy from it the following:

"It is stated here upon what seems to be good authority, that you are a prospective candidate for chairman of the State Republican executive committee, and as the Republicans of this section will be called upon to make a selection of that officer at the next State convention it is a matter of importance to them to know how you sand on the question of prohibition in North Carolina, and more especially, how are you on the question of local option? and if elected, will you favor a return to the open bar-room in the event the Republicans control the next Legislature? And while on this subject I will add that it is also currently reported here, upon the same authority, that you have formed an alliance with ex-Senator Marion Butler, of Washington, D. C., with the avowed intention of defeating prohibition in the State. Is this report true or untrue? An examination of the prohibition vote will disclose the fact that western North Carolina is overwhelmingly in favor of prohibition, and more particularly is this true in strong Republican counties and townships. In the counties of Mitchell, Yancey, Madison and Buncombe the vote against whiskey was practically unanimous in favor of prohibition. In one strong Republican township in Madison county, voting more than 400 votes, not a single vote was cast against prohibition. Another county giving a large Republican vote has abandoned the county jail to the ladies of the town for a conservatory for their flowers for want of criminals to occupy its gloomy cells. This is rather a flowery showing for prohibition; geraniums and carnations bloom since prohibition where criminals languished under local option. The fragrance of the blushing rose fills the gloomy recesses of the county bastile under prohibition, where the sickening fumes of mean whiskey permeated the gloomy structure under local option. The local optionist would reverse this pleasing observation. They would destroy the flowers and supply the place with drunken convicts. Down with local option and let the flowers remain, ornaments of God's handiwork."

From the above, the Hon. John M. Morehead and the Hon. Marion Butler will observe that they are up against it with their new party organization, and that Colonel Lusk asks a question which he wants answered without any equivocation and without any "foxy" business.

MADRIZ DEFIANT.

President Madriz, of Nicaragua, defiantly informs Secretary Knox that the United States have no right to interfere with his army at Bluefields. He declares that if it had not been for the interference of the American naval authorities Bluefields would have been taken and the revolution ended long ago.

No doubt Madriz is correct in his statements, if he is not right. It appears that the Washington Government is playing the part of policeman to Central America and has assumed that this government is more concerned at Bluefields than is Madriz's own government.

Our naval forces are practically in charge of Bluefields, just about as much so as if the Nicaraguan city belonged to the United States. This government is denying the right of the Nicaraguan government to handle its own ports as it sees fit.

The usurped dominancy of this government at Bluefields is based upon the contention that we are protecting American interests and also keeping an eye on international interests in Nicaragua. However, it is hard to tell whether the Monroe doctrine impels us to act as policeman or whether selfish, predatory Americans have interests that this government is protecting, most likely the latter. This is one of the things which Congress should have investigted before it adjourned.

Our policy towards our Central and South American neighbors makes enemies of them, but no doubt that policy is dictated by the Monroe doctrine for fear that there may be international complications that might involve this country with European powers. Germany has very little respect for our Monroe doctrine and is disposed to give us a tilt over it sometimes if need be. She is keeping up with Great Britain in building "Dreadnots" and when she gets ready she will give this country some trouble in Central and South America.

At any rate, this government is always in trouble on account of looking after foreign interests in the troublesome Latin American countries, or else the investments of American capital and the exploits of American adventurers in those countries are always getting us into hot water.

Going back to Bluefields, one would reasonably suppose that the Madriz government should be predominant there and that our forces should merely see that American rights and interests are respected by either the Madriz or insurgent forces. Fancy Great Britain or any other foreign country during our Civil War, taking possession of any port and denying the right of this government to capture or close it if it could. An act like that sustained by force would have made it practically impossible for the Federal Government to have put down the Confederacy as it was done.

When the whistle blows for Wilmington everybody gets happy.

Many a man may be acquitted, but he better not be caught at his tricks any more.

Come on to Wilmington. You want to live here and you may as well move in now than later.

"No excuse for the loafer," says the Charlotte Chronicle. How about it when it's powerful hot?

A contemporary remarks that "the Democratic outlook is encouraging." Sure, Mike. It always is, but we don't want to be on the "outlook" all the time.

Senator Gore, of Oklahoma, is stone blind. If a blind man can find out how corrupt the Republican party is, men with two eyes should not be blinded to the true facts.

A New York paper remarks that "it is the old, old story—women continue to make fools of men." Nevertheless, nature had the first whack at them and made it an easy job for the women to finish.

CURRENT COMMENT.

People who have not kept in touch with the progress of development in most of the Southern States will be surprised to find how much is really being accomplished, even at this time when business is supposed to be moving along at a rather slow rate. The only feature of Southern enterprise which appears to be at all below normal is cotton manufacturing. The railroads are generally gaining ground. There is active building in the traction field to connect cities by electrical lines. A single project of suburban construction extended from Anderson, S. C., to Durham, N. C., involves an expenditure of $30,000,000.—Wall Street Journal.

Recalling Mr. Roosevelt's Guildhall speech when he criticised the English for the number of assassinations in Egypt under British control, and told them: "If you can not keep order you must get out," the Manchester Guardian somewhat cruelly compares the homicide record in the United States with that of European countries, showing it to be ten times greater, and points to the fact that the total number of murders in the city of Chicago, with 2,000,000 people, is greater every year than among the 300,000,000 people of India. Before one goes to chunking stones it is wise to inspect the resisting qualities of one's habitation.—Columbia State.

Gilson Gardner, a newspaper correspondent who joined the Roosevelt party in Egypt and accompanied it to Washington, and who had almost daily interviews with the ex-President, stakes his reputation on the prediction that the Taft administration has been so thoroughly bad that Roosevelt will not endorse it in any shape, form or manner. He declares Taft deserted the Roosevelt policies cold-bloodedly. In connection with Gardner's statement, it is significant that Roosevelt should have been this long on American soil following his long absence in Africa without having seen the man he made President or having mentioned him in any way. Roosevelt and Taft have not met since March 4th, 1909.—Greensboro Record.

The city of Wilmington is attracting attention North and South. Trade journals, industrial publications of all sorts, have "got onto" the fact that Wilmington is in existence and everything seems to be coming her way. Wilmington's two progressive papers, The Morning Star and The Evening Dispatch, have worked shoulder to shoulder, earnestly and aggressively, for the development of their city and it must be gratifying to both to see that the attention of the nation is being directed toward Wilmington. Uncle Sam is beginning to do his part toward North Carolina's gateway port. A half million dollar custom house is to be built and a thirty-foot channel to the sea is almost a certainty.—Charlotte News.

In Mecklenburg county the solicitorship race has reached the stage of mud-slinging. Shannonhouse and Smith, that county's two candidates, are doing some speaking stunts. The campaign started in earnest Monday night when Shannonhouse made a speech in one of the suburbs of Charlotte in which he said various and sundry things about Smith. Tuesday night Smith followed him and denounced Shannonhouse as a liar. It appears to us that this is an exceedingly low plane on which to conduct a campaign for such a position as that of solicitor. The Gazette has had little if anything to say relative to the contest for the solicitorship, further than to express a hope that one of Gaston county's two candidates would receive the nomination.—Gastonia Gazette.

The remaining congressional district—the sixth, witnessed the most bitter struggle in the State, with the exception of that in Wake county already mentioned. The surprise of the day was Representative H. L. Godwin's victory over Major A. J. McKinnon in the latter's own county, Robeson, which has been the storm center of the contest, and where, presumably through ex-Sheriff G. B. McLeod's activity, Mr. Godwin received two votes to his opponent's one. Mr. Godwin developed unexpected strength elsewhere in the district as well, and, although he fails to receive the solid support of his own county, Harnett, he will go to the Wrightsville convention far in the lead of his field. His nomination is not certain, however, as Herbert McClammy has 42 convention votes in New Hanover and O. L. Clark, of Bladen, has some 20 votes from his county.—Charlotte Observer.

You can pretty accurately judge the Democratic majority in Wake in the November election by ascertaining the number of votes in the primary that nominates county officers. Four years ago 4,269 votes were cast in the primary and that year the Democratic majority was 2,314. In 1908 the vote in the Democratic primary was 3,184 and the Democratic majority in November was only 1,166. Last Saturday the vote in the primary was truly a record-breaker and reached 5,097 in the contest for State Senator. Some fantastic and rainbow-chasing Republicans are making claims of making gains this year in Wake county. If there had been a dull and small primary, held with no general interest, some Republican gains might have been possible, but with 5,097 militant Democrats, who were sufficiently aroused to go to the polls on Saturday and vote, the last hope of Republicans even being able to make an interesting fight disappeared. In every election some men are disappointed. This is necessarily so. Four years ago many of the men who are rejoicing now over the result of the primary were as greatly disappointed as are the men who lost out on Saturday. But they were Democrats in defeat as well as in victory and supported the ticket that was named with earnestness and helped to roll up a majority of nearly 2,500.—Raleigh News and Observer, June 28h.

Feet So Sore Couldn't Walk Down Stairs—

TIZ Cured Her Quick.

If you have sore feet, tired feet, sweaty feet, lame feet, tender feet, smelly feet, corns, callouses or bunions, read what happened to Mrs. Crockett, of Jeffersonville. TIZ DID IT. Mr. Crockett says: "After the second treatment she walked downstairs one foot at a time. She has not been able to walk downstairs before in past five years, except by stepping down on each step with one foot at a time. This is remarkable. Send five more boxes."

No matter what ails your feet or what under heaven you have used without getting relief, just use TIZ. It's different. It acts right off. It cures sore feet to stay cured. It's the only foot remedy ever made which acts on the principle of drawing out all the poisonous exudations which cause sore feet. Powders and other remedies merely clog up the pores. TIZ cleans them out and keeps them clean. You will feel better the first time it's used. Use it a week and you can forget you ever had sore feet. There is nothing on earth that can compare with it. TIZ is for sale at all druggists, 25c per box, or direct, if you wish, from Walter Luther Dodge & Co., Chicago, Ill.

MANY EXCURSIONISTS HERE

More Than 500 Arrive From Atlanta and Something Like 400 Come From Charlotte—Many at Beach.

Although greatly over-estimated as to number, in the advance notices, the annual excursion of the city salesmen of Atlanta, Ga., arrived in the city on time yesterday morning and a large portion of the party was conveyed directly to Wrightsville Beach, where the majority are guests at the Tarrymoore Hotel. Some remained in the city, however, and will make side trips to both Wrightsville and Carolina beaches. It was thought that the party would number 1,000 or more, but hardly more than half this number came on the trip.

The train was operated in two sections, the first consisting of seven Pullmens and arrived at 9:45 A. M. The second section was composed of eight day coaches and reached the city 15 minutes behind the other section. Both trains left Atlanta Monday evening over the Seaboard Air Line and came through without an incident. The Georgians will leave Saturday on the return trip.

In the afternoon another excursion arrived over the Seaboard Air Line, this being the eighth annual outing of the Pritchard Memorial Baptist Church Sunday School, Charlotte to Wrightsville Beach. Many of those in the party have relatives and friends in Wilmington and some stopped over in the city. Most of the excursionists went on to the Seashore Hotel, Wrightsville Beach, however, where they will have headquarters during their two days' stay here. It is estimated that there were 400 in the party. This morning the visitors will go down the Cape Fear river on the steamer Wilmington, returning late in the afternoon. The river trip is always a feature of the annual outing of the Sunday School. The train will leave tomorrow on the return trip.

CLYDE LINER HIT SHARPIE.

Youth Was Knocked Overboard and Small Vessel Damaged.

While proceeding down the river Monday night on her way to Georgetown, the Clyde liner Navahoe, Capt. Packer, fouled the sharpie K. T. Willie and besides damaging the vessel to some extent, knocked overboard Charlie Cox, a 10-year-old Brunswick county youth, who managed to swim to the vessel after it had gone some distance away from him.

Capt. Peterson, of the sharpie, stated that the accident occurred near the Ocean Fisheries and that he made a desperate effort to get out of the path of the steamer, but the latter was advancing too rapidly for him to get his sailing vessel out of her reach. Young Cox was standing in the bow of the vessel and Capt. Peterson and none of the others aboard saw him when he went overboard. After the sharpie had gone some 25 yards they missed him and turned around. When found he was swimming manfully toward a channel light, but they managed to get the boat to him and picked him up.

A board about two feet long was knocked out of the stern of the vessel and it was otherwise damaged slightly.

COW KILLED AND CAR DERAILED.

Passengers on Suburban Car Badly Shaken Up, But Not Injured.

A number of passengers were pretty badly shaken up, but not injured, yesterday afternoon, when a suburban car, leaving the junction at 1 o'clock, ran over and killed a cow, belonging to Mattie Allen, at Macomber's trestle, on Princess street. The car was derailed and ran on the cross ties for some little distance before Motorman J. T. Moore could bring it to a standstill. The cow was hurled from the track and instantly killed. Traffic on that line was blocked for some time, the beach cars being detoured on the old line down Tenth street. The cow was grazing on the side of the trestle and just before the car reached that point suddenly sprang upon the track, making it impossible for the motorman to stop his car in time to prevent the accident.

COLORED EPISCOPALS.

Interesting and Profitable Meeting of Workers at Fayetteville.

The Convocation of colored workers of the Episcopal church for the Diocese of East Carolina met last week in Fayetteville, Bishop Strange presiding the first day, and Archdeacon W. G. Avant presiding thereafter.

The Convocation was a success. Excellent papers were read and the general missionary talk by Archdeacon W. G. Avant was an inspiring feature of the convocation. An uplifting spirit prevailed during the sessions.

The convocation will convene in St. Mark's church, colored, next year.

EPISCOPAL MINISTERS MEET

Annual Gathering at Wrightsville Beach of Clergymen of the Diocese of East Carolina—First Session Yesterday.

Episcopal clergymen of the Diocese of East Carolina are gathering at Wrightsville Beach for the annual "Bishop's Retreat," the first session of which was held in the beach chapel yesterday morning, and continues for ten days. This is the occasion for the coming together of the clergymen of the Diocese for prayer, study and discussion of various problems of the church and the gatherings always prove of a most interesting and helpful nature in every respect. The mornings are devoted to prayer, study and discussions while the afternoons and evenings are given over entirely to recreation.

The sessions are being presided over by Rt. Rev. Robert Strange, of this city, Bishop of the Diocese. The clergymen met at 7:45 A. M. yesterday for the celebration of the Holy Communion and from 9:45 A. M. to 1:45 P. M. the regular session was held. The particular subject for consideration this year is the English Reformation and a programme of interesting papers has been arranged. The first paper was read yesterday morning by Rev. W. J. Gordon, of Williamston, on "The Council of Whitby." This was followed by a short Bible Study, led by Rev. Thos. P. Noe, of this city, rector of the Church of the Good Shepherd, after which there was a general discussion of parish problems. The clergymen spent the afternoon and evening as best suited them. An early morning service will be held at 7:45 o'clock during the "Retreat" followed by the regular session at 9:45 A. M. Papers on the English Reformation will be read each day. Sunday there will be two services and sermons, one at 11 A. M. and the other at 8:30 P. M. in the beach chapel.

The clergymen are stopping at the Parsley Cottage, on Wrightsville Beach. Among those who had arrived up to yesterday afternoon were: Rt. Rev. Robert Strange, Bishop of the Diocese; Rev. Dr. R. B. Drane, Edenton; Rev. F. N. Skinner, Beaufort; Rev. D. F. Huske, Greenville; Rev. C. D. Malone, Chocawinizy; Rev. E. L. Malone, Bellhaven; Rev. W. J. Gordon, Williamston; Rev. J. W. Fulford, Jessama; Rev. W. E. Cox, rector of St. John's; Rev. Dr. Wm. H. Milton, rector of St. James'; Rev. Thos. P. Noe, rector of the Church of the Good Shepherd, and Rev. Edward Wootten, all of Wilmington.

MRS. SARAH CAROLINE FLEET

Good Woman Entered Into Rest Last Night—Funeral Thursday.

Many friends will hear with profound sorrow and the tenderest sympathy of the community will go out to the bereaved ones in the death of Mrs. Sarah Caroline Fleet, widow of the late James Fleet, which occurred last night at 8:45 o'clock at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Edgar D. Williams, No. 221 South Sixth street. Mrs. Fleet, on account of her advanced age, had been in feeble health for some time, but members of the family and friends were totally unprepared for the shock which came with the announcement of her death last night.

Mrs. Fleet was 78 years, seven months and 12 days old, and had lived in Wilmington all her life. To everyone in the circle of her acquaintance she was an inspiration for her sweet Christian character and her devotion to her Master. For years she had been one of the oldest and most faithful members of Fifth street M. E. church and her loss to the congregation and her absence in the family circle will be deeply felt. Mrs. Fleet is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Edgar D. Williams, with whom she resided, and one son, Mr. J. W. Fleet, of the J. W. Fleet Co., leading clothing merchants, and a large number of grandchildren, all of whom have the deep sympathy of all in their sorrow.

The funeral will be conducted from Fifth Street M. E. church Thursday afternoon and the interement will be in Oakdale cemetery.

NEW OFFICERS INSTALLED

Joint Meeting Last Night of Three Local Masonic Lodges—Large Attendance—Address by Rev. Dr. Foster.

With many prominent local members of the fraternity in attendance, the annual joint installation of officers for the ensuing year of the three Wilmington lodges, A. F. & A. M., took place in the Masonic Temple last evening. Measuring up fully to all former events of the kind, the exercises incident to the installation were of an exceedingly interesting nature.

The programme of the evening was interspersed with enjoyable musical selections, which added much to the pleasure of all in attendance. After the officers had been duly installed dainty refreshments were served and a number of impromptu remarks were made by members of the different lodges.

The committee in charge of the arrangements for the affair was composed of Mr. R. C. DeRossett, P. M., Orient Lodge, No. 395, chairman; Mr. John S. McEachern, P. M., St. John's Lodge, No. 1; Mr. Walter E. Yopp, Wilmington Lodge, No. 319, these being the three lodges whose newly elected officers were installed last night. The officers were installed by W. B. McKoy, Esq., as Deputy Grand Master, and Mr. C. L. Meister, a Past Master, was master of the ceremonies. The exercises opened with prayer by the chaplain, Rev. Dr. A. D. McClure, pastor of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church. Mr. H. G. Smallbones was marshal for the occasion. The officers other than those mentioned, R. C. DeRosset, P. M., senior warden; J. S. McEachern, P. M., junior warden, and A. W. Allen, tiler.

Just before the installation, the master stated that Dr. McClure wished to make a few remarks and he then presented to Right Worshipful Deputy Grand Master W. B. McKoy, from the members of the Wilmington Lodge, a most beautiful gold Past Master's jewel, which was received in most feeling and pleasing language by the distinguished Wilmington Mason and attorney.

At the close of the installation the master announced with deep regret that a message had just been received of the death of the mother of Brother J. W. Fleet, who as present and was obliged to retire. The joint secretaries were ordered to write a letter of sympathy to the bereaved brother in this hour of his great sorrow.

After the lodge exercises, all the Masons assembled in the banquet hall above to the number of nearly 100 where the social features of the evening took place, among the speakers being Dr. J. H. Foster, of Wilmington; Representative E. M. Koonce, of Onslow; Rev. Wm. H. Milton, D. D., of this city, and a number of others. An elegant spread of refreshments was enjoyed and fraternal greetings were exchanged with the Winston and Salem lodges of Masons, who held their installation exercises on the same evening.

A leading feature of the exercises was an address by Rev. Dr. J. H. Foster, pastor of the First Baptist Church, of this city, whose remarks were interesting and of an uplifting nature. He spoke as follows:

"Worshipful Master, Brethren of the Lodges: During the 20 years I have been a Mason it has been possible for me to attend but few sessions of the Lodge. It is not because I love Masonry less but because I love more the work to which the Lord has called me and for the right prosecution of which He shall hold me personally responsible. I rejoice in the growth of the order—am glad when I hear of a young man who desires to be initiated into the mysteries of Masonry because I feel that it will strengthen his character and inspire him with a higher ideal. It has been my observation that those who are loyal Masons are better fathers, brothers and citizens.

"In its beginning Free Masonry was an organization of practical builders, bonded together for the purpose of protection and of perfecting themselves in their avocation. Many of the buildings, monuments and tombs of the old world are memorials of their genius, patience and artistic skill. In one of the King's tombs near Thebes, on the stone wall there is carved the image of a man standing in the position and giving the due guard and sign of an entered apprentice. The date given to this carving is forty-five hundred years ago. How long before that Masonry existed as an order no one knows. More than 1,000 years before the coming of the Son of Man, Solomon was building on Mount Moriah a Temple which should be the wonder and admiration of the ages. In that work he employed Masons sent from Tyre by Hyram, the King.

"It was in 1717 A. D. that the Grand Lodge in its meeting in London, England, ceased to be an organization of architects and artificers and became a fraternal and benevolent organization. Today its objects are are not the perfecting of its workmen in the arts of masonry and the building of splendid structures that shall well deserve the plaudits of the world; these are worthy objects; but Masonry is dealing not in mortar and brick and stone, but in lives and is seeking the instilling of noble ideals and the building of manly characters.

"Looking upon the building which have withstood the ravages of time and the storm of the ages, we think of the men who stood with trowel in hand and put in the mortar that holds the brick and stone and marble together, but we may forget that little line with lead on the bottom of it that was let down by the side of the building to see that it was plumb. In our lodge room we are never permitted to forget the symbolism of the plumb line in the building of character.

"The tower of Pisa leans about 13 feet from the perpendicular. Men and women from all over the world go there and inquire by what architiceural contrivances that tower has been leaning there for centuries with no danger of falling. It is the object of Masonry to prevent the building of leaning towers. Its standard is straight up and down and oblique. It would put the plumb line over the domestic, social and business life of men and ask them to be straight and to deal on the square.

"In Solomon's Temple there were two pillars whose names were symbolic. These Masonry has adopted for the purpose of impressing its lessons, retaining their names and symbolism. Jahin means "He will establish," and refers to the fact that Jehovah's dwelling place, hitherto movable and moving, was now firmly fixed in the midst of His people. Boaz means "In Him is strength," and points weak man to the strength which God supplies. These pillars were surmounted by ornamental capitals, shaped like a full blown lilly-cup with fine checquered net work thrown over the whole and delicate chain work hanging in festoons on the outside and decorated with circling rows of pomegranates. They told not only of stability and strength but of beauty. While Masonry does not profess to possess saving power, and does not, in any sense, seek to usurp the place of the church, the purpose of this grandest and oldest of all human institutions is to make human nature strong and pure and to crown it with grace and beauty. Charles Whitlock Moore has compared it to 'Some patriarchal monarch of the forest with its vigorous roots riveted to the soil and its broad limbs spread in bold outline against the sky, amid whose venerable branches, for generations to come as through the ages past the sun will delight to linger and play. And, if in the providence of God, lashed by the storm and rivened by the lightning, it shall totter and fall, around its trunk will ivy of filial affection still cling and mantle with greenness and verdure its ruin and decay."

BODY RECOVERED

Remains of Capt. LeRoy Smith Recovered Early Yesterday Afternoon.

Floating in the river, near the point where the sad tragedy took place Sunday afternoon, the body of the late Capt. LeRoy King Smith, who was drowned from a launch which he and a party of friends were engaged in carrying around to Wrightsville Beach, was found yesterday afternoon at 1:15 o'clock, a short distance from Orton plantation. The discovery was made by a party of young men, some of whom were with him on the launch when the drowning took place; a brother, Mr. Owen B. Smith, and Mr. T. D. Love with whom Capt. Smith was associated in the steamboat business for some years. The party with several others were down the river in small boats searching for the body when the discovery was made and the remains were brought at once to the city on the yacht Cadet, arriving at Market dock shortly before 4 o'clock. From the boat the remains were taken to the funeral parlors of Mr. James F. Woolvin, on Princess street, where taey were prepared for burial and later taken to the saddened home, 315 South Third street, whence the funeral will be conducted at 11 o'clock this morning. The interment will be in Oakdale cemetery.

Much sympathy is expressed for the sorrowing family, the mother of the young man being prostrated at the great calamity which has cast its shadow over the home.

THE RECORDER'S COURT.

E. Snipes Found Not Guilty of Violating Near-Beer Ordinance.

E. Snipes, who conducts a near-beer saloon at corner of McRae and Walnut streets, and P. C. Farrow, who has a similar establishment on Second, between Market and Dock streets, were arrested yesterday morning, the former by Patrolman Jones and the latter by Patrolman Bradshaw, on warrants charging them with violating the near-beer ordinance in that their places were not properly lighted. The first named was tried before the Recorder yesterday morning and the case was dismissed, the defendant testifying that he left on oil lamp lighted in his place and if it was not burning when the officer passed it must have gone out. The other case was continued until Thursday at the request of the defendant, who will be represented by Kellum & Loughlin. Three negro girls, arrested some days ago on the charge of stealing a piece of silk from the department store of J. H. Rehder & Co., were given a hearing, but the cases were dismissed on account of the ages of the defendants, who were represented by L. Clayton Grant, Esq.

Suit Started Yesterday.

A civil action was started in Superior Court here yesterday by the Navassa Guano Company against O. K. Nimocks & Co., of Fayetteville. LONG TRIP IN CANOE.

Dr. Reston Stevenson Goes Through New Inlet to Wrightsville.

Dr. Reston Stevenson, who is at home for his vacation, made an unusually long and successful trip down the Cape Fear river and through New Inlet to Wrightsville Beach yesterday in a 16-foot canvass canoe. He started from the city yesterday morning at 4 A. M., arriving at New Inlet at 10 A. M., where he hoisted his sails and with fair wind blowing strong from the southeast, arrived at the Atlantic Yacht Club yesterday afternoon at 1:15 o'clock, accomplishing a rare feat for a craft so small and a part of the way by the ocean route. The distance is about 42 miles and the trip was made in exceptionally good time. His boat has been christened the "Witch of Greenwick."

HILTON LUMBER ROAD.

Citizens Seek to Have It Declared a Common Carrier.

(Special Star Telegram.)

Raleigh, N. C., June 28.—There was a lengthy hearing today before the Corporation Commission on petition from citizens of Teachey's and Pinhook asking that the railroad of the Hilton Lumber Company be declared a common carrier instead of operating as it is now as purely a lumber road, demanding that a station be provided at Pinhook which is now the terminus of the road which extends from Warsaw, ten miles to Pinhook. The Commission examined a number of witnesses as to the volume of business there is in the section of country penetrated by the Hilton road. Interests of the road were represented before the Commission by R. A. Parsley ,of Wilmington, a member of the Hilton Lumber Company corporation. Stephens & Beasley, attorneys of Warsaw, represented the petitioning citizens. The Commission deferred action. The lumber company objects to being made a common carrier before the road is extended ten miles further to Hollsville.

ROOSEVELT AT HARVARD

Joined Old Friends at College Club Reunion Yesterday.

Boston, June 28.—Theodore Roosevelt, Harvard '80 was unable to come to Boston in time to participate in the outing of his class today but he joined his old college friends tonight when the class held its reunion at the Algonquin Club here. A small crowd was on hand at the station when Col. Roosevelt arrived from New York at 3 P. M. and there was a hearty cheer.

The former President was driven to the home of President Lowell, of Harvard University in Cambridge. Col. Roosevelt had not been there long before a request came for him to speak to the members of the Harvard Law School Alumni Association, who were holding their annual meeting in the Harvard Union. He accepted and spoke briefly.

Col. Roosevelt expressed his gratification at being at Harvard again and referred to the memorial tablets in the union to the Harvard soldiers, who fell in the Spanish-American war. It was pleasant to know, he said, that Harvard always was ready when the country calls for men for military or civic service.

After a short walk about the college yard Col. Roosevelt visited the Porcollain Club and one or two other smaller clubs. He will head the alumni parade into Memorial hall tomorrow afternoon and will speak briefly at the commencement dinner.

When Col. Roosevelt was informed of the result of the Harvard-Yale game he said: Why did you tell me anything like that?"

Shortly before 6 o'clock the ex-President returned to President Lowell's house and soon afterwards he was brought back to Boston and joined his classmates at the Algonquin Club. Col. Roosevelt returned to Cambridge where h spent the night as the guest of President Lowell.

Probably two of the happiest men on top of the earth at the present time are Josephus Daniels and Josiah William Bailey, down at Raleigh. Their crowd won, or most of them. The city of Raleigh went back on them, but the county came to their rescue and fought nobly. They even beat "Bill" Russ for clerk. This is going some.—Greensboro Record.

Mr. B. F. Kelly, Springfield, Ill., writes: "A year ago I began to be troubled with my kidneys and bladder, which grew worse until I became alarmed at my condition. I read of Foley's Kidney Pills and after taking them a few weeks the headaches left me, the action of my bladder was again normal, and I was free of all distress." Robt. R. Bellamy.

WANT U. S. TO INTERFERE.

Situation in Nicaragua Still Puzzling. Neither Side Winning.

Washington, June 28.—Intervention in the Nicaraguan situation came to the fore again today when United States Consul Moffat, at Bluefields, telegraphed the State Department that a petition with 700 signatures had been presented to General Estrada, asking that the United States intervene.

The suggestion that the United States intervene is taken as a counter move, to offset the undesirable impression likely to result from the refusal of General Estrada to accept the proposal of the Cartago court of justice to have the warfare ended by mediation.

Senor Corea, representative of the Madriz government in this city, today received two dispatches from Madriz, one denying many of the reported victories of the Estrada forces and the other telling of the anti-American manifestations and the determination of this government to keep them from resulting in harm, to Americans in Nicaragua.

The first telegram, when translated, read: "It is false that the revolutionists are in control. Chontales, Acoyapa, San Ubaldo in our power. Revolutionists near Acoyapa in a very reduced number and with few supplies. Will soon be defeated in same way that a revolutionary band which appeared at Mombachs was destroyed at Escalantillo with death of the chief, Falavera. The entire country, including the Atlantic coast, has submitted to the government authority with the exception of Bluefields and Rama."

The second read: "Government has given orders to stop the anti-American manifestations and has made more vigorous the censure of the press in this particular. The government guarantees complete safety to all American citizens. You will call to mind the cases of Fowler, Cannon and Pittman."

Baltimore, Md., June 28.—Mrs. James S. Sherman, wife of Vice President Sherman, who is a patient at the Johns Hopkins Hospital, was tonight reported in an improved condition. Though all information as to her ailment is refused at the hospital and by her physician, it is understood that she is suffering from a nervous breakdown.

Expelled anarchists returning to Argentina will be liable to imprisonment to from three to six ears. The representatives of ship owners and navy companies, captains or agents, who knowingly engage in the bringing of anarchists to this country will be liable to a heavy fine or imprisonment.

Capital punishment is provided for hose who are responsible for any anarchistic movement resulting in death. This section of the law is applicable to men and women and minors over 18 years of age.

This is a remarkable fruit year. The trees and bushes and vines are actually burdened and farmers say that much fruit is going to waste, for there is more than can be either marketed or consumed. This should be the day of the canner. Enough fruit could be preserved and canned to stock every household in North Carolina for the winter. It is a fat year and the people ought to prepare against the possible coming of the lean year. Canning and preserving should be the order of the day.—Charlotte Chronicle.

CAROLINA MILLS TO CLOSE.

Largest Curtailment Among Mills This Summer in South Carolina.

Spartanburg, S. C., June 28.—"There will be the largest curtailment among the cotton mills this Summer that has ever been known."

This was the statement made by John A. Law, president of the Saxon Mills, when asked tonight if the mills of Spartanburg county would join the curtailment movement that seems to be sweeping the land. Continuing, Mr. Law said:

"The price of manufactured goods is out of all proportion to the price of cotton. Some of the mills will close down on the first of July and remain inactive for a week or more, and others will close down on the 25th of July. The curtailment, however, is not confined to the month of July, but will extend all through the Summer."

my, chairman; Col. Harry Skinner, Attorney General T. W. Bickett, ex-Judge Chas. A. Moore and T. S. Kenan.

W. D. Pruden, Esq., of Edenton, offered an amendment to the constitution, providing for an increase in the salary of the secretary and treasurer from $150 to $250 a year. This will be acted upon later.

A. B. Andrews, Jr., of Raleigh, made the report of the executive committee, the feature of which was the recommendation that the following be appointed as the auditing committee to audit the books of the secretary-treasurer: John A. MacRae, Charlotte; F. J. Coxe, Wadesboro; Walter Clark, Raleigh.

Col. Solomon Gallert, of Rutherfordton, of the membership committee, reported that a meeting of the committee was held yesterday afternoon and the following new members, 14 in number, were received: R. C. Lawrence, E. M. Britt and Thos. A. McNeill, Lumberton; J. P. Wiggins, Maxton; W. S. O'B. Robinson, Jr., Charlotte; G. L. Jones, Franklin; Geo. H. Howell, Wilmington; J. C. Wright, Clinton; Walter P. Stacy, Wilmington; Donald McRacken, Whiteville; R. D. Johnson, Warsaw; Marsden Bellamy, and Brooke G. Empie, Wilmington, and J. E. Pegram, Durham. It was also reported that Frank Spruill was re-instated. Another meeting of the committee will be held today.

When the report of the legislative and law reform committee was called for, R. C. Strong, Esq., of Raleigh, said the committee would not be ready to report until today. There was no member of the judiciary committee present and this was passed over until today.

When the report of the committee on legal education and admission to the bar was called for, Prof. N. Y. Gulley, of Wake Forest College, stated that the committee had not held a meeting, but he and Judge R. W. Winston had gotten together and had some recommendations to make to the Supreme Court relative to the length of term applicants must have studied law before applying for license and also prescribing a course of study for each year. The report was made. The feature was the lengthening of the time applicants must read law before getting license and prescribing the course, including the reading of "Blackstone" and not the "Essentials". Judge Biggs said that inasmuch as it was an important matter and that it had not come up from the committee as a whole he thought the recommendations should go to a special committee. He moved that the report be referred to a committee of five with Prof. Gulley as chairman. The motion prevailed. The president announced that he would appoint the committee today.

At 11 o'clock Hon. John D. Bellamy moved that a recess be taken until this morning at 10 o'clock and the motion prevailed.

Mr. Meares Harriss, the expert court stenographer of this city, is the official stenographer of the convention.

Judge E. W. Timberlake, of Wake Forest, in calling the convention to order last night, made a short address in which he spoke in most complimentary terms of the lawyers and referred to the great work they are doing in North Carolina. His address was listened to with keen interest.

Pegram, Durham.

President's Annual Address.

The annual address of Col. John W. Hinsdale, the president, last evening was easily the feature of the opening session of the association and the address was a scholarly and most profound discussion of "Trial by July of Civil Actions," following in this respect observations along the same lines by his two predecessors as president of the State Bar Association, Hon. Clement Manly, of Winston, and Hon. George Rountree, of Wilmington, whom he quoted quite liberally in his splendid discourse.

Col. Hinsdale conceived that this question concerned lawyers more deeply perhaps than any others because it is the warp and woof of their professional life, and which concerns the public at large, because the security of life, liberty and property is dependent upon it. His remarks were directed principally to the questions: First, whether jury trial of civil actions should be abolished and, if so, what is the best substitute? and second, how can the system of trial by jury be improved?

The speaker in a general way traced the origin and development of jury trial from the earliest days in a most interesting and enlightening way, its invention being imputed to Alfred the Great. Coming to later days, the speaker gave an interesting review of the oft miscarriages of justice under the jury system and spoke of the blind prejudice that very often existed when corporations were involved.

Col. Hinsdale quoted several authorities on jury trials and noted the growing disfavor both in this country and in England where they were long all that remained between the crown and the common people.

"That this boasted bulwark of our liberties does not possess the full measure of our confidence is shown by the alacrity and with which counsel often seek to avoid the risk of verdict of the infallible (?) jury, when upon the conclusion of the plaintiff's evidence, the defendant moves to take the case from it by a judgment of nonsuit," continued the speaker. "How frequently do counsel, when appearing for a defendant forego the introduction of valuable testimony, in order to secure the last appeal to the favor and bias and prejudice of the jury, that right (?) may prevail.

'And if this palladium, etc., should give a verdict against the evidence, is it conceivable that the court should be permitted to 'smash the palladium' and batter the bulwark to pieces, by setting the verdict aside?

"The lawyer who knows he has a bad case which he ought to lose, will not trust the judge. He prefers a more competent and reliable and trustworthy (?) arbiter. Short on facts, his only hope is a jury, upon whose sympathy and prejudices he may play, in order to secure justice (?).

"The uncertainty of the issue of a jury trial has become proverbial. It is said to be the only thing which omniscience does not know, and it has been suggested that 'perhaps there is enough of the gamble, the chance of the die, in the outcome, to fascinate the student and to entice the practitioner into becoming its advocate.

"We cannot and must not ignore these oft recurring miscarriages of justice. They stand out in bold relief in our professional experience, and are known of all men.

"Let us consider some of the causes of this deplorable condition:

"Jurors as a rule, are not competent to try the facts or apply the law. "Jurors are sworn to try all cases according to the law and the evidence. It is their duty, on the one hand, to consider the facts testified to; to determine their weight, and to take the law from the court. They have neither training, education, nor experience for this work. They are frequently uneducated and ignorant. To judge and sift testimony and to detect falsehood requires more than ordinary common sense. Jurors are emotional, sympathetic, frequently prejudiced, and often regard their oath as a mere matter of form. It is sometimes a task beyond their powers to apply the propositions of law laid down by the court to the facts of the case.

"And yet, as Judge Seymour D. Thompson once said:

"'The twelve common men thus selected haphazard from a community to sit as jurors in the particular trial, who have perhaps never sat in a trial before, who find themselves discharging an office new and strange to them, surrounded by strange scenes, like children attending for the first time at school, are by that law conclusively presumed to be able to discriminate properly upon all questions of fact, to detect the true from the false in the testimony delivered by a witness, to weigh the evidence impartially—and all this without any aid or assistance from the bench beyond instructing them in certain general rules which they are told they may or must apply in determining the weight to be attached to the various elements of the evidence'."

Citing further eminent legal authorities on the question of juries, Col. Hinsdale quoted from his distinguished predecessor, Mr. Manly, in his able and instructive address before a former session of the association to show the evils of exemption from jury service. Continuing he said:

"It is the duty of the jurors to take the law from the court, although by our statute counsel are expressly permitted to argue to them the law as well as the facts. Not infrequently, the jury undertake to decide the law according to their own sweet will, and arrive at wrong conclusions. If the evidence is conflicting, it is impossible for the court to know whether or not the jury has disregarded its instructions, a ground for setting aside the verdict. In Illinois and some other States, I am informed, there was an old law on the statute books to the effect that in criminal cases the jury 'is judge of the law as well as the facts.'

"In one case the judge instructed the jury that it was the judge of the law as well as the facts, but added that it was not to judge the law unless it was fully satisfied that it knew more law than the judge. An outrageous verdict was brought in, contrary to all instructions of the court, who felt called upon to rebuke the jury. At last an old farmer arose.

"'Jedge,' said he, 'weren't we to judge the law as well as the facts?' 'Certainly', was the response, 'but I told you not to judge of the law unless you were clearly satisfied that you knew the law better than I did.' 'Well Jedge,' answered the farmer, as he shifted his quid a little, 'we considered that p'int.'

"There are many other defects in the system. The delays and costs of litigation are very great. Sometimes days are consumed in the selection of a jury. Then again, there are wearisome and needless contests over the admission of vidence. An appeal from an error in admitting or excluding evidence may necessitate a new trial. The judgment is not corrected, but a new trial is ordered, to begin anew the series of blunders and appeals.

"Our civilization does not permit the citizen with a strong hand to settle his disputes with his neighbor. It provides him with a forum for this purpose. It is, therefore, the duty of the State to furnish that tribunal and that system or mode of trial, which will make justice as sure and speedy as possible.

"Ours is a conservative profession. We love to stand by the ancient landmarks—to walk in the ancient ways. But we are living in an age of progress. We have witnessed in our generation the demolition of a system of practice and pleading, which had grown hoary with age, and the substitution of a simple procedure. I can well remember how, when I first came to the bar, the lawyers of the old regime inveighed against and denounced this striking down of their ancient idol. And yet, who of us would return to the days of declarations, pleas, replications, rejoinders, sur-rejoinders, rebutters, and sur-rebutters? Who would disturb the peaceful slumber of John Doe and Richard Doe, who for half a century have been quietly resting in their comfortable graves?

"No, if the trial by jury in civil cases, with all its faults, is the best, let us retain it and, if possible, correct them. If it is not, let it be abolished and a better system substituted in its place. We owe it to succeeding generations to hand down to them the surest and safest administration of civil justice.

"What is the best substitute?

"I verily believe that all issues of fact, as well as of law, can be more safely, more certainly, more satisfactorily determined by one or three honest, impartial, able, learned and experienced judges."

Col. Hinsdale further quoted from Mr. W. F. Scott in his article on "Should Trial by Jury in Civil Cases be Abolished?" and submitted from this article:

"First. Cases would be disposed of more expeditiously.

"All the time consumed in the impaneling of the jury would be saved.

"New trials because of misconduct of jurors would no longer exist.

"Thus the delay from the re-trial of cases, and the consequent delay in their final determination—one great cause of the prevailing dissatisfaction with the administration of law in the courts of justice, would to a great extent be obviated.

"Second. The expense of lawsuits would be greatly lessened.

"The expenses saved in this way would allow the additional judges which the abolition of jury trial, would doubtless necessitate; giving them adequate salaries, and allowing an increase in the present salaries of the judges now on the bench. It would also allow the employment of a court stenographer to take down the testimony in short hand, and to transcribe it for the use of the judges at chambers and of the lawyers in making up bills of exceptions.

"Third. It would elevate the standard of the legal profession, and in doing so would give a new dignity to the administration of the law. It is the opportunity which jury trial affords for harangue, for ad captandum argument, for unworthy appeal to passion and prejudice, for indulgence in intemperate and unprofessional discussion of the testimony, as well as for improper methods in conducting the trial itself, so as to influence the minds of the jurors, that causes pettifoggers in the profession; individuals who pursue the practice of law, not as a learned and dignified profession requiring continuous study to master its principles, and severe mental training and discipline to conduct the trial of causes, but as a trade in which effrontery takes the place of eloquence, and abuse of argument.

"Fourth. The only remaining obstacle to the unification of the judicial system by the abolition of all distinctions is methods of trial in cases legal and equitable, would be removed.

"I would recommend that all civil actions be tried by three nisi prius judges, who shall rotate, and thus avoid all possible local influence, prejudice or favor. I would increase the number of these judges, and in order to secure the highest order of talent, and attain the fullest guarantee for the correct administration of the law, I would give them salaries commensurate with the labors and responsibilities of the judicial office. I would provide them with the necessary court stenographers. The revenue saved from the abolition of jury service would more than meet all the additional expense of the changes here advocated."

Col. Hinsdale next entered upon a profound discussion of the constitutional question of whether or not jury trial in civil causes in North Carolina may be abolished without an amendment, numerous Supreme Court opinions being quoted, the speaker taking the ground that it is certain that the right of trial by jury in a common law action cannot be abolished except by constitutional amendment and if the Supreme Court shall adhere to what he conceives to have been an erroneous construction of the constitution, the right to trial by jury in an equity cause, without such an amendment cannot be changed.

"It is not probable," said the speaker, "that our organic law will be changed in this respect in our generation, but I am convinced that the day will come, when a different and better mode of trial of all civil actions will be adopted.

"The question, therefore, of abolishing the jury trial in civil causes can hardly be called a living practical one. Its discussion at this time is academical.

"If the jury system in civil actions, like the poor, is to be with us always, it is our duty to make it as perfect as possible. This brings me to the consideration of the improvements which should be made.

"First: In the selection of jurors. The Revisal of North Carolina makes it the duty of the board of county commissioners, every two years, to select from the tax returns the names of all such persons as have paid all taxes assessed against them for the preceding year, and are of good moral character, and of sufficient intelligence. This is a most important duty. It is one which, as a rule, from a want of discrimination or a disinclination to exercise independent judgment as to the fitness of the jurors, is not efficiently performed. It is natural that the commissioners, an elective body, should be disinclined to adjudge one of their friends or supporters to be morally or mentally unfit for jury service. The purging of the jury list should be committed to a non-partisan and non-elective body, composed of men of the highest probity and intelligence, to be appointed by the court, and they should perform their office in executive session so that they may not be influenced by personal considerations, or subjected to criticism, for the independent discharge of their duty. A higher standard of intelligence should be adopted in the selection of jurors. None should be called upon to perform this important function of passing upon the liberties and rights of the citizen, but those who are well qualified for the duty. None but freeholders, as in the case of talismen, should be chosen, and preferably men of education, substance and affairs. No one should seek the duty. None should shirk it. There is nothing really attractive in the per diem, and a juror to whom this is an inducement, is generally an unfit person."

Col. Hinsdale next quoted from Mr. Manly on this question of jury service and said: "I would repeal every exemption, and I would not excuse any citizen from this most important duty, lawyers and court officers alone excepted. I would leave it to the discretion of the presiding judge, in any extreme case, to excuse." Discussing talismen as jurors, the speaker said:

"As a rule, the most dangerous juror is the talisman—the idle hanger-on in the court house, hungry for the pitiful per diem of a juror, sometimes obtruding himself to be called by the sheriff in order to serve a friend, sometimes present by invitation for that purpose. Jurors should never be called from the by-standers. If necessary, the sheriff should be directed by the court to go outside and summon the best men to be found. But, even this should not be necessary. A sufficient panel should be summoned in the first instance. At least two full regular juries should be in attendance on the court. This plan has been adopted by some of the counties, and as a result the occupation of the jury-fixer is gone, and a better class of jurors has been secured.

"Judges should be permitted, and it should be their duty, to aid the jury by the expression of an opinion upon the facts."

Col. Hinsdale said that he could add nothing to the well considered and persuasive remarks of that distinguished lawyer who has heretofore addressed the association upon this branch of the subject, taking the liberty of quoting from the able address of Mr. Geo. Rountree, former president of the association, who submitted that a decided change is necessary in the administration of the law and that the only feasible way in which such change can be made, and made effective without a revolution in our methods of procedure by which we would lose the inestimable benefits of the historic trial by jury, is to restore to the judicial office its ancient powers and prerogatives. Col. Hinsdale held that the province of the jury is to be the ultimate judges of the facts. "It is no invasion of this province, for an able and impartial judge," he said, "simply to assist them in coming to their conclusion. If truth is the desired goal, and it can be more certainly reached with the assistance of a judge whose experience enables him to materially aid in this ultimate purpose of trial, what is the objection? Is error more to be prized because the jury in their unaided gropings, have fallen into it, than truth reached with the assistance of the court?

"The rule that the verdict of a jury must be unanimous has come down to us from our ancestors. This is its chief excellence. Eleven cannot truly solve the problem submitted to them, without the aid of the twelfth juror, because the truth reposes only in the twelve! In all bodies, executive, judicial, deliberative, legislative, a bare majority suffices. In the courts of common law and the courts of appeal in chancery, when the judges differ in opinion, that of the majority prevails. When in the House of Lords a peer is tried for crime, a bare majority of one is sufficient to convict; in the Supreme Court of North Carolina, a majority of one decides the question of law, and in the Supreme Court of the United States in equity causes the most difficult questions of fact, as well as of law, are decided by a majority of one."

Discussing the setting aside of verdicts, the speaker said:

"A great defect in our system of trials is the reluctance with which judges set aside the verdicts of juries. There is nothing sacred in the verdict of twelve fallible men. They frequently make mistakes. Of course, it is not a pleasant duty for the judge to tell the jury that they have blundered. The usua formula in denying a motion for a new trial is, "I am averse to disturbing the verdict of a jury.' If it is wrong, it ought to be disturbed. The judge who said, 'It takes thirteen men in my court to deprive one of his land' was eternally right."

The speaker then gave a review of the procedure in many other States and countries and quoted a large number of legal writers in this phase of the subject and said that there should be an appeal to the Supreme Court from a refusal to set aside a verdict when it is manifestly against the weight of evidence, such appeals being allowed in 30 States of the Union. Concluding, Col. Hinsdale said:

"I have finished the task I set before me, how imperfectly, no one knows better than myself. Many of the reforms which I have advocated will meet your hearty approval. About some of them you will differ, but you will at least agree that they merit serious consideration. I hope to see some of them adopted in the few short years of professional life which I trust are still before me. Others in time will surely come, not in your day, nor in mine, but after we shall have pleaded our last cause before a jury of fallible men, and shall have been summoned hence, to await our own trial before the Great Judge, whose findings are eternally true, and whose judgments are everlastingly righteous."

The Sessions Today.

This morning the convention will hear an address by Hon. N. A. McLean, of Lumberton, who arrived yesterday morning, and a report of the committee on memorials. The feature of the session this evening will be an address by Hon. James Byrne, a prominent lawyer of New York City. Thursday the visitors will be entertained on the steamer Wilmington for a trip down the Cape Fear river. Early in the morning the visitors will board special suburban cars in front of the Seashore Hotel and come to the city and will leave at 10 o'clock on the steamer Wilmington for a trip on the river as far down as Fort Caswell and probably embracing a stop at and inspection of the fort. Luncheon will be served aboard the boat. The party will return to the city about 5 o'clock in the afternoon and go directly to Wrightsville Beach on special suburban cars, which will be in waiting. The concluding session will be held n the evening.

Free Sample For Baby's Ills

Something can and must be done for the puny, crying baby, for the child that refuses to eat and is restless in its sleep. And since the basis of all health is the proper working of the digestive organs, look first to the condition of the stomach and bowels.

A child should have two full and free movements of the bowels a day. This emptying of the bowels is very important, as with it comes a clear head, a lightness of step, good appetite and sound sleep. But it is equally important to know what to give the child in the emergency of constipation and indigestion. Cathartics are too strong and salts and other purgatives are not only too strong, but the child refuses them because of their bad taste. Have you ever tried Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin? It is a liquid tonic that families have been using for a quarter of a century. It is mild, pleasant-tasting and promptly effective. It is good for you as well as the child, but there is nothing better to be found for children. They like its taste—you will not have to force them to take it.

First of all, if you have not yet used it, Dr. Caldwell would like to send you a sample bottle free of charge. In this way you can try it before buying. Later, when convinced of its merits, you can get it of your druggist at fifty cents and one dollar a bottle, just as thousands of other families are doing. The family of Mr. D. W. Spangler of Strattonville, Pa., as well as that of Mr. A. F. Johnson of Walnut Grove, Tenn., started with it in that way and now write that it is their one family necessity next to food itself. If you are unfortunate enough to have a sickly child, one given to constipation and indigestion, you should send for a free sample of this remedy.

Dr. Caldwell personally will be pleased to give you any medical advice you may desire for yourself or family pertaining to the stomach, liver or bowels absolutely free of charge. Explain your case in a letter and he will reply to you in detail. For the free sample simply send your name and address on a postal card or otherwise. For either request the doctor's address is Dr. W. B. Caldwell, R.525 Caldwell building, Monticello, Ill.

SOME ACTIVITY IN COTTON

Market Was Nervous and Unsettled All Day With Sharp Early Break. Foreign Reports Had Influence—Conditions.

New York, June 28.—The cotton market was nervous and unsettled all day and while a sharp early break was followed by a partial recovery, the market lost most of the improvement and closed barely steady at a net decline of 9 to 18 points. The opening was easy at a decline of 9 to 19 points and during the morning prices sold off to a net loss of about 11 to 21 points under liquidation and bear pressure which was inspired by weak cables and more favorable opinion of weather conditions in the South and weak stock market.

Moreover it was the first July notice day and the circulation of notices estimated at about 20,000 bales was accompanied by some scattering liquidation by near month holders, who were supposed to have been hanging on to their contracts in the hope of finding a big demand from shorts.

Altogether the market was active, very nervous and unsettled on the decline with sentiment disturbed also, by private Liverpool cables indicating that there was apprehensions of further troubles in Lancashire followed the two small failures reported yesterday, but when the early offerings had been somewhat exhausted and bull leaders gave the market support by bidding for large blocks of July, it was reported that the notices had been taken up as rapidly as they reached the bull houses and the market developed a steadier tone on covering of shorts. The weekly report of the weather was rather bullish as conditions in some sections of the belt, and while this failed to stimulate much fresh buying, it may have helped the rally which carried prices up to within 3 to 7 points of yesterday's closing figures around mid-day. Later offerings became heavy again with some selling through brokers, but brokers were credited with operating for one of the big bulls and the market eased off in the last hour with the close only a little up from the lowest on the active months. Southern spot markets officially reported early were unchanged to 1-8c lower. A private crop report made public soon after the close indicated a yield with average conditions from now on under 12,000,000 bales.

Receipts of cotton at the ports today 4,269 bales against 4,342 last week and 6,014 last year; for the week 20,000 bales against 23,318 last week and 31,138 last year. Today's receipts at New Orleans 1,336 bales against 791 last year and at Houston 181 bales against 549 last year.

Spot closed quiet 5 points lower; middling uplands 1,405; middling gulf 15.20; sales 300 bales. Futures opened easy and closed barely steady.

Marvelous Discoveries.

mark the wonderful progress of the age. Air flights on heavy machines, telegrams without wires, terrible war inventions to kill men, and that wonder of wonders—Dr. King's New Discovery—to save life when threatened by coughs, colds, lagrippe, asthma, croup, bronchitis, hemorrhage, hay fever and whooping cough or lung trouble. For all bronchial affections it has no equal. It relieves instantly. Its the surest cure. James M. Black, of Asheville, N. C., R. R. No. 4, writes it cured him of an obstinate cough after all other remedies failed. 50c. and $1.00. A trial bottle free. Guaranteed by Robert R. Bellamy.

STOCK MARKET SPECULATION

More Activity in Stocks and Wheat Yesterday—No Material Change in Conditions—Crop Reports Are Favorable.

New York, June 28.—The parallel speculation in stocks and in wheat showed evidence today of a realizing movement in the sense of buying stocks to cover shorts of profit taking sales in wheat. The hesitation developed on the reactionary price movements resulting from this action was an index of the state of doubt whether the wider speculative adjustment had culminated or only paused. There was no material change in the conditions which had prompted the movement.

The large influence on the course of the markets played by the crop situation in the Northwest does not admit of doubt. The immediate relief to the most severe of the weather conditions there was proven by the official terms of the weekly bulletin of the weather bureau, which reported improvements due to timely rains in the more Southern portions of the Spring wheat region. There was, however, the qualifying statement that "rain in abundance is needed in nearly all portions of the district." Officials of the railroads admit the fact of the damage done by the drought but pronounce the reports of it exaggerated for speculative effect. Crop reports aside from the Spring wheat damage, are favorable as a whole, especially for the corn and Winter wheat belts.

Of the more abstruse causes of the break in the market, there continued to be much confused conjecture. The force of events gave warrant to the supposition that the adjournment of Congress and the return to New York of J. P. Morgan had failed to bring out a demand for stocks which had been counted on by a party in the speculation. The paucity of the demand and the urgency or determination of the recent selling were the facts beyond dispute.

There persisted a suspicion that the rectification was in progress in steps not approved by the home coming chief of a party in the market.

Rates for money showed little change, but the tone was somewhat firmer, in spite of the heavy liquidation that has been going on in the stock market. One of the surmises over the cause of the weakness of stocks is that some long standing speculative accounts have been forced out by lenders of money on collateral who are desirous of keeping liquid assets in hand for the Fall money requirements.

The day's small net changes are due to the covering movement amongst the bears and supporting orders, through which the early losses were entirely retrieved. Net gains were indicated in not a few cases although the early downward plunge established new low records for the year in some of the market leaders.

Bonds were irregular. Total sales par value $1,853,000. United States bonds were unchanged on call. Total sales for the day 784,500 shares, including: Copper 44,100; Sugar 300; Tobacco 400; Atchison 39,000; A. C. L. 300; C. & O. 2,300; L. & N. 1,500; N. & W. 2,000; Reading 139,400; Sloss-Sheffield 700; Southern Pacific 68,300; Southern Railway 1,100; do preferred 900; U. P. 83,500; Steel 176,800; V. C. C. 3,500.

THE GRAIN MARKET.

Chicago, June 28.—Suspicion popped out today that stock jobbing interests have been influencing the wheat market for effect on securities. As a result grain prices were extremely nervous and investors sold during all bulges. Nevertheless hot, dry weather in the Northwest caused further advances and each went further than the one that preceded. The close, too, was firm and 1 to 1 3-8 net higher. All other staples headed in the opposite direction, corn finishing unchanged to 1-2 lower, oats unchanged to 3-8 lower and hog products down 5 to 25.

Cash markets closed: Wheat No. 2 red 1.00 1-2 to 1.03 1-2; No. 3 red 98 to 1.00 1-2; 2 hard 1.00; 3 hard 95 to 1.00; northern 1.02 1-2 to 1.14; No. 2 Northern 1.06 1-2 to 1.08; No. 3 spring 1.00 to 1.06 1-2; durum 78 to 80.

ITCHING IRRITATION.

Worst Form of Skin Trouble Quickly Cured by Inexpensive Treatment.

When you suffer with any skin trouble, even though the itching seems unbearable, do not think that it is necessary to use some disgusting greasy ointment. Try Hokara, a pure and simple skin food, that is guaranteed to contain no grease or acids and which is so cleanly that it does not soil the linen.

Its power to instantly relieve any irritation of the skin and make it soft white and beautiful is almost miraculous.

Not only are minor skin troubles, like pimples, blackheads, ache, barber's itch, etc., quickly cured, but the worst ulcers or cases of salt rheum or eczema are cleaned and healed by this wonderful skin food.

In order that any one may try Hokara at small expense, J. Hicks Bunting Drug Co. are selling a liberal sized jar at 25 cents, and in addition guarantee to refund the money if the treatment does not do all that is claimed for it. Larger size 50 cents.

If the skin trouble is caused by impure blood or if the bowels are inactive, use Hokara Blood Tablets. They cool and cleanse the blood and regulate the bowels in a natural way.

OLD CROP A FEATURE.

Some Deliveries on the Market Yesterday—Existing Conditions.

(Special Star Telegram.)

New York, June 28.—Poor cables and foreign selling weakened the market at the opening with some pressure on old crop deliveries, but the interest and trading continue local. Rains in Texas yesterday and some today removed any incentive for support, but the bearish temper was restrained from selling aggressively by a few unsatisfactory features of the weekly bureau report which rallied the market after the early decline. The outlook is of necessity a narrow one under existing conditions.

HUBBARD BROS. & CO.

DRY GOODS MARKET.

New York, June 28.—The cotton goods market is quiet and easy. The miscellaneous export trade is of fair dimensions. The local yarn market is very quiet. Lines of cheap men's wear have been opened for Spring 1911 and prices on the low grades which contain a large percentage of cotton, are about the same as last year.

SAMPSON PRIMARIES.

Faison Leading for Congress—Cotton and Truck—Snake in Bed.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Clinton, N. C., June 28.—The results of the Democratic primary held throughout the county Saturday are slow coming in, but indicate that Dr. J. M. Faison will get the lion's share of Sampson's vote for Congress. There will be some votes for Duffy and Hood, who are well known and have friends here. Dr. Faison's friends are very hopeful of getting the nomination. Judge Allen, for associate justice of the Supreme Court, and Henry A. Grady, for solicitor, will get practically the solid vote of the county. Shaw, who is a native of Sampson, and has relatives here, will get some scattering votes possibly.

Superior Court convened here yesterday with Judge C. M. Cooke presiding. There are no cases of importance on the docket for this term.

Master Harold Lewis, son of Mr. Julian Lewis, had an unwelcome bedfellow one night this week in the way of a live snake. After the little boy had risen in the morning the reptile was found among the sheets. How it got there is not known, but it is supposed to have come up from Cat Tail branch and made its residence in the Lewis home until discovered and cast out as an unwelcome guest.

The continued rains have greatly injured cotton crops in this section and the outlook at this time for the crop is gloomy. The corn crop is looking well. Large shipments of huckleberries and early corn are being made daily from this point and are netting shippers good returns.

DEMOCRATIC FEDERATION

For Improvements In System of Party Government Organization.

Washington, June 28.—The Democratic Federation of the United States of America has been launched, the central ideal of which, according to the official pronunciamento, is a "federation of organizations throughout the country, composed of Democrats, that shall stand for the needed improvements in the system of party government and other progressive issues."

One of its purposes will be to select in each State and in the nation, by postal vote "only those issues upon which public sentiment is agreed or can readily be brought to an agreement." Candidates in the respective States and in the nation are then to be systematically questioned on these issues and their replies published to the members of the party.

Among the Democrats who have originated this movement are United States Senators Owen of Oklahoma, Newlands, of Nevada, and Chamberlain, of Oregon; Former Vice President Adlair E. Stevenson, of Illinois, 20 members of Congress from various States, Democratic editors and others prominent in the party. George H. Shibley, of the District of Columbia, is the secretary of the federation.

LOOTED GERMAN BANK.

Woman Held at Ellis Island as Accomplice of Paul Webber.

New York, June 28.—A handsome young Roumanian woman, who gives the name of Mariolle Webb, is held a prisoner at Ellis Island as an accomplice of Paul Webber, a clerk who is charged with looting a German bank at Cairo, Egypt, of $50,000 not long ago. Nearly $37,000 of the money was found under a mattress in the woman's room in Brooklyn today. Webber has disappeared and she refuses to give a clue to his whereabouts

The pair arrived here on June 16th, although the German consul had furnished emigration officers a description of Webber, they passed inspection safely and were swallowed up in the city until traced to a Brooklyn boarding house.

The woman was arrested yesterday, but remained obdurate until today when she broke down and revealed the hiding place of them. She is 28 years old and handsomely gowned.

San Francisco, June 28.—Secretary of War J. M. Dickinson and party, including his wife and son and Brigadier General Clarence Edwards, chief of the bureau of insular affairs, sailed today on the steamer Siberia for the Orient. The Secretary will inspect the fortifications now being erected in the Hawaiian Islands, and will also spend some time in Asia before returning home via way of Europe.

THE SOUTHERN NATIONAL BANK

$500 that Johnson will win; $1,000 to $700 Jeffries will win. All the offers were promptly covered.

Bob Vernon, of New oYrk, an old friend of Jeffries, is credited with the largest local wager placed on the fight. It was stated at Jeffries' camp that Vernon today put up $3,000 to $1,800 on Jeffries to win; a record of such a wager is reported by a local pool room.

Gov. Dickerson said he would leave for Carson City tonight. He said he was perfectly satisfied with Johnson's work out and with a talk he had with Jeffries in which the fighter said everything was as advertised and that the fight would not violate any Nevada law.

Some Spirited Betting.

San Francisco, June 28.—Betting at odds ten at seven with Jeffries on the long and continued at a lively rate here today in the pool room of the official betting commissioner for the Jeffries-Johnson fight. Tom Corbett received large sums from Canadian points which he placed at the prevailing odds. The bulk of the money continued to be furnished by local fight followers, but considerable betting was done today by visitors waiting here preparatory to their trip to Reno.

Corbett will leave tomorrow for Reno, where he will take personal charge of the betting.

Sporting Men From Abroad.

San Francisco, June 28.—The steamer Wilhelmina arrived today from Honolulu bringing well known sporting men from the Antipodes to see the Jeffries-Johnson fight on July 4th.

Among them are Hugh McIntosh, an Rustralian fight promoter; Tommy Burns, former champion, who lost his title to Jack Johnson, and Bill Lang, a heavyweight.

TRIBUTE TO PRESIDENT.

Stars and Stripes Float From Buildings at Beverly, Mass.

Beverly, Mass., June 28.—When President Taft arrives at Beverly tomorrow morning his only public greeting will be from the Stars and Stripes which have been ordered raised on all public buildings at sunrise each day during his stay in the city.

The President is expected to arrive in Beverly at 8 o'clock tomorrow morning.

The right name of the Italian laborer, who was injured by Robert Taft's automobile yesterday was learned today when Chief of Police W. A. Ferguson and Attorney Eugene B. Jackson, representing the President, visited the hospital. The man said that his name was Michaelo Di Grigerdio, that he is married and has a wife and one child in Italy. His explanation of the accident was that he was crossing the street and became confused when the automobile approached. He said nothing that can be construed as placing the blame for the accident on young Taft. Robert visited the hospital during the day and saw the injured man for a moment.

Late tonight the hospital reported that the injured man was resting comfortably and that his chances for recovery had improved.

BLOODY DUEL IN CLEVELAND.

One Killed and Eight Injured in Fatal Street Fight.

Cleveland, O., June 28.—One man is dead, one is dying and seven other persons are in a hospital with more or less serious wounds as the result of a duel fought on one of the city's most crowded thoroughfares about 8 o'clock this evening.

The trouble started in a quarrel between Frank Viena and Antoine Mercurio, over the alleged treatment by Mercurio of his wife, Viena's sister.

The two men were standing in front of a saloon at Twenty Third street and Broadway when they drew revolvers and commenced firing at each other.

A number of persons rushed forward to separate them, but before the shooting could be stopped Viena was dead, Mercurio fatally injured and seven stray bullets had found billets in as many of the bystanders.

In the meantime a riot call had been turned in and police reserves from three stations rushed to the scene. It was with the utmost difficulty that htey were able to quiet the frenzied mob. Apart from the two principals all of the wounded will recover.

EXPLOSION KILLS FIVE.

Saloon Was Wrecked Near Minneapolis—Caused by Gas Tank.

Minneapolis, Minn., June 28.—Five were killed and 11 injured, two of them probably fatally, by an explosion which first wrecked and then set fire to the saloon of Edward Burhay, five miles north of Minneapolis, on the Anok Road this evening.

The identified dead are Eugene Hamlin, Edward Hammish and Chas. Siggel Kow, all residents of Minneapolis. Two bodies remain unidentified.

Edward Burhay, the proprietor of the place, and George Miller were so badly burned that they will die.

The explosion of a gas tank in the basement blew the roof from the building and fire immediately started. In half an hour the building was a mass of burning wreckage. Ernest Orthohild, a porter, rescued both Burhay and Miller from death in the fire.

ROANOKE DETECTIVE DIES.

Result of Injury Received in Fight With Man He Killed.

Roanoke, Va., June 28.—Charles Peters, a detective, who was shot by Charles Champ at Jed, W. Va., last night, died in a Welch, W. Va., hospital early today. It was reported last night that Champ had escaped, but his dead body was found near the scene of the shooting at daybreak today. Champ was shot by Peters after the latter was wounded. The detective had placed a man under arrest when Champ interfered.

Ann Arbor, Mich., June 28.—Harry Burns Hutchins was tonight elected president of the University of Michigan to succeed Dr. James B. Angell. President Hutchins was born in Lindon, N. H., April 8th, 1847.

THREE WERE DROWNED.

Mrs. Milie Bawyer and Two Midshipmen Victims—Searching River.

Annapolis, Md., June 28.—More than a score of marines are tonight searching the waters of Zevern river for the bodies of Mrs. Nellie E. Bowyer, widow of Joseph Bowyer, and daughter-in-law of Supt. John M. Bowyer, of the Naval Academy, and Midshipman Grisbie Thomas, of Union Point, Ga., and Sherman M. Naron, of Newjort, R. I. The three left the Naval Academy about 11 o'clock this morning in a sail boat and this boat was found drifting this afternoon. In it were portions of the clothing that had been worn by members of the party. It is believed that the midshipmen took Mrs. Bowyer to the bathing shore used by the naval academy people and attempted to teach her to swim and that, she getting beyond her depth, all three were drowned. All efforts to recover the bodies had been fruitless up to a late hour tonight.

Mrs. Bowyer and the two midshipmen missed the regular launch that goes to the bathing beach across the river from the naval academy and took a half rater sail boat instead. There they donned bathing suits, and, again taking to their boat, went to a beach nearer the mouth of the river, but within sight of the naval academy. While this beach is good, it has treacherouse spots where the depth of water increases suddenly. There were no witnesses to what occurred, but the discovery of the boat in which they had been and the fact that no trace of any of the party has been found, leads to the conviction that all three were drowned.

Mrs. Bowyer was a Miss Dean, of Pittsburg, Pa. Her husband, Joseph Bowyer, died a couple of years ago, and she has ever since made her home with his parents. She wag 28 years of age. Each of the midshipmen was about 20 years old and both were athletes and members of the academy rifle team, with which they were to have left tomorrow for Wakefield, Mass., for practice preparatory for the Nation rifle competitions at Camp Perry, Ohio.

NOTED AMERICANS SUED.

Mrs. VonClaussen Would Bring Action For a Million.

New York, June 28.—A big bundle of papers purporting to be the complaint in a suit for $1,000,000 damages against Theodore Roosevelt, Robert Bacon, American Ambassador to France, Charles Graves, American Minister to Sweden, and his wife, is in the county clerk's office here awaiting dispositon. The bundle was thrown nto the office today by Mrs. Ida M. Von Claussen, after the clerk's refusal to file them because of irregularities. The attempted suit is an outgrowth of the refusal of Minister Graves to present Mrs. Von Claussen at the court of the late King Oscar, of Sweden, in 1907. The complaint begins:

"I hereby make formal demand of the Supreme Court of the United States to procure me an honest lawyer to plead for justice for me if the United States has laws capable to protect me; if not then the Legislature must be appealed to."

So far Mrs. Von Claussen says she has been unable to find such a lawyer.

The complaint continues: "I therefore file in the Supreme Court this complaint and institute a suit for slander, malice and revenge to recover $1,000,000. The gross insult and slanders received in Sweden, of which the world has cognizance, is laid directly to the foregoing conspirators."

Mrs. Von Claussen has figures conspicuously in the newspapers ever since her return from Sweden. She says King Oscar gave her his photograph and invited her to visit him.

GREEK FAKER CAUGHT.

Fefrauded His Countrymen Out of $40,000—His Scheme.

Chicago, June 28.—If charges made by the police are true, Sotorios Boussoulas, till recently a private banker, steamship and employment agent, has taken between $30,000 and $40,000 from his fellow countrymen during the last two years. Boussoulas, who is a Greek, 33 years old, was placed under arrest here today.

It is charged that he agreed to forward drafts to Greece, and that he kept the money when the drafts were not honored. Two weeks ago the police say he sold out all of his business interests preparatory to leaving the country.

Dr. Joseph Hyde Pratt states that he has received donations amounting to $2,500, toward a fund for the survey and other preliminary work for the Blue Ridge Highway which is to connect Asheville, Altapass and Linville. The only way to obtain good roads is to go ahead and build them, and this $2,500 makes it appear that North Carolina is interesting itself in the matter to no inconsiderable extent.—Charlotte Observer.

Norfolk, Va., June 28.—Tomorrow afternoon on the high tide, the battleship Delaware, the first American Dreadnaught will leave the Norfolk navy yard for a trial run to sea. The big ship was busy nearly all of today taking on ammunition and making ready for her departure tomorrow.

Freckle-Face

June Brings Out Unsightly Spots—How to Remove Easily.

Do you know how easy it is to remove those ugly spots so that no one will call you freckle-face?

Simply get an ounce of othine, double strength, from J. Hicks Bunting Drug Co., and one night's treatment will show you how easy it is to rid yourself of freckles and get a beautiful complexion. The sun and winds in June bring out freckles, and as a result more othine is used this month and the druggists sometimes find it difficult to get sufficient to supply all calls. Be sure to ask for the double strength othine, as this is sold, under guarantee of money back if it fails to remove the freckles.

CURES PIMPLES EASY.

Simple Remedy That Clears Skin Quickly of All Eruptions.

For several weeks past J. Hicks Bunting Co. have done the biggest business it ever had in any one article in selling Hokara, the skin food that has won so many friends in Wilmington.

It has been found to be an absolute cure not only for all minor skin troubles, such as pimples, blackheads, herpes, ache, scaly scalp, complexion blemishes, itching feet, piles, etc., but for the worst sores, ulcers, or even chronic eczema and salt rheum. There has yet to be found any form of wound on disease affecting the skin or mucous membrane that Hokara does not heal, and its action is so instantaneous that those who try it are simply delighted with it right from the start.

In spite of its unusual curative powers, the price is trifling. To convince every one of its merits, they will sell a liberal-sized jar for 25 cents. And remember that if you do not think it does what it claims, you get your money back. You certainly can afford to try it on this plan.

If the skin trouble is caused by impure blood or if the bowels are inactive, use Hokara Blood Tablets. They cool and cleanse the blood and regulate the bowels in a natural way.
